ORACLE

Don La Haye "66

Don,
To a real nice
guy who I have had the pleasure of knowing this past year. I'll see you at the Districts where you'll be throwing the discus, and I'll be putting the shot put. Good luck in the future in everything you do.

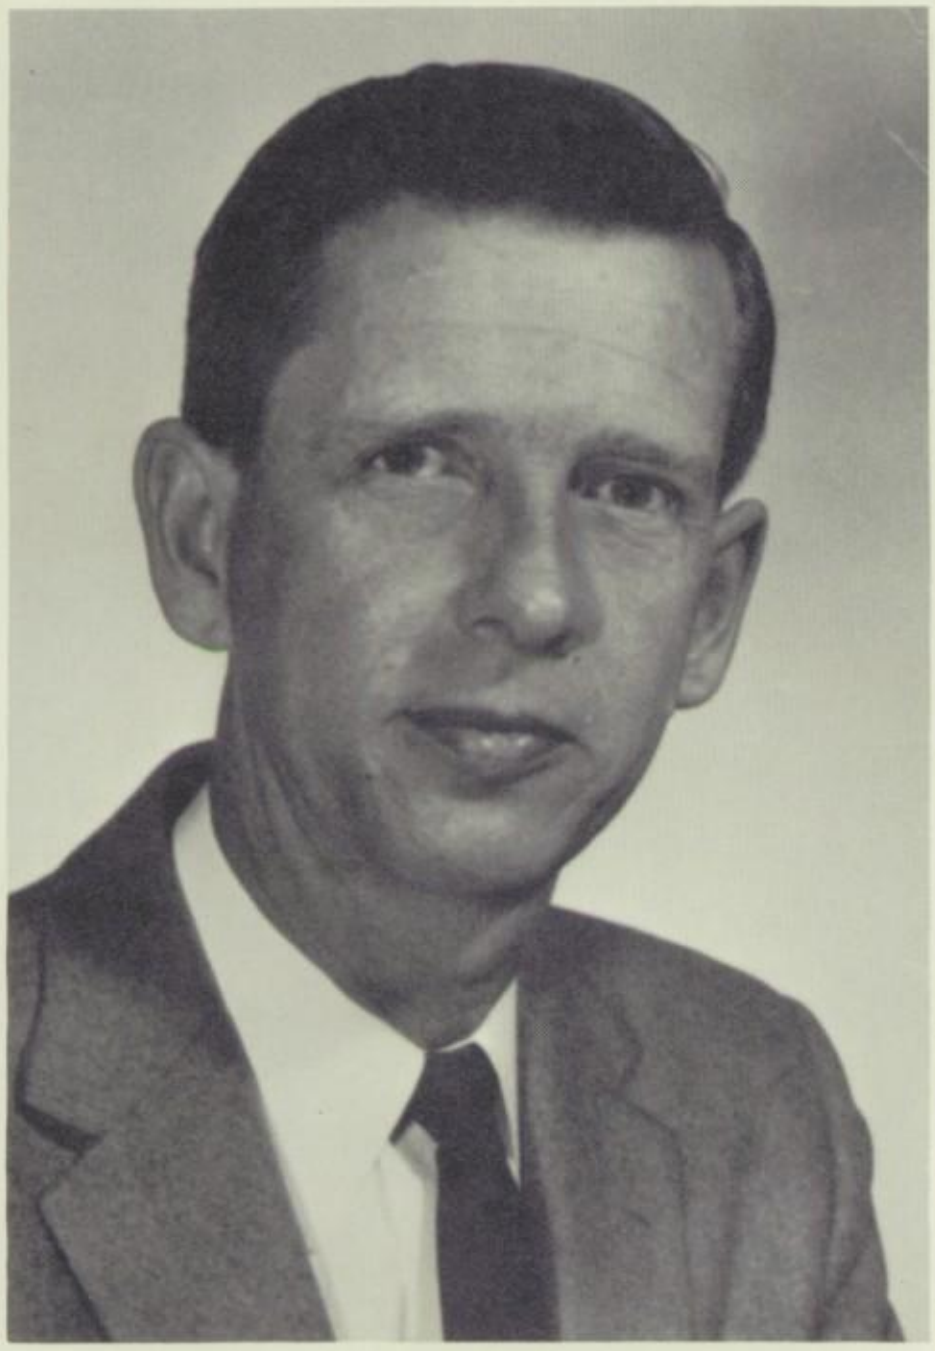
DEDICATION



William E. Earp, guidance counselor

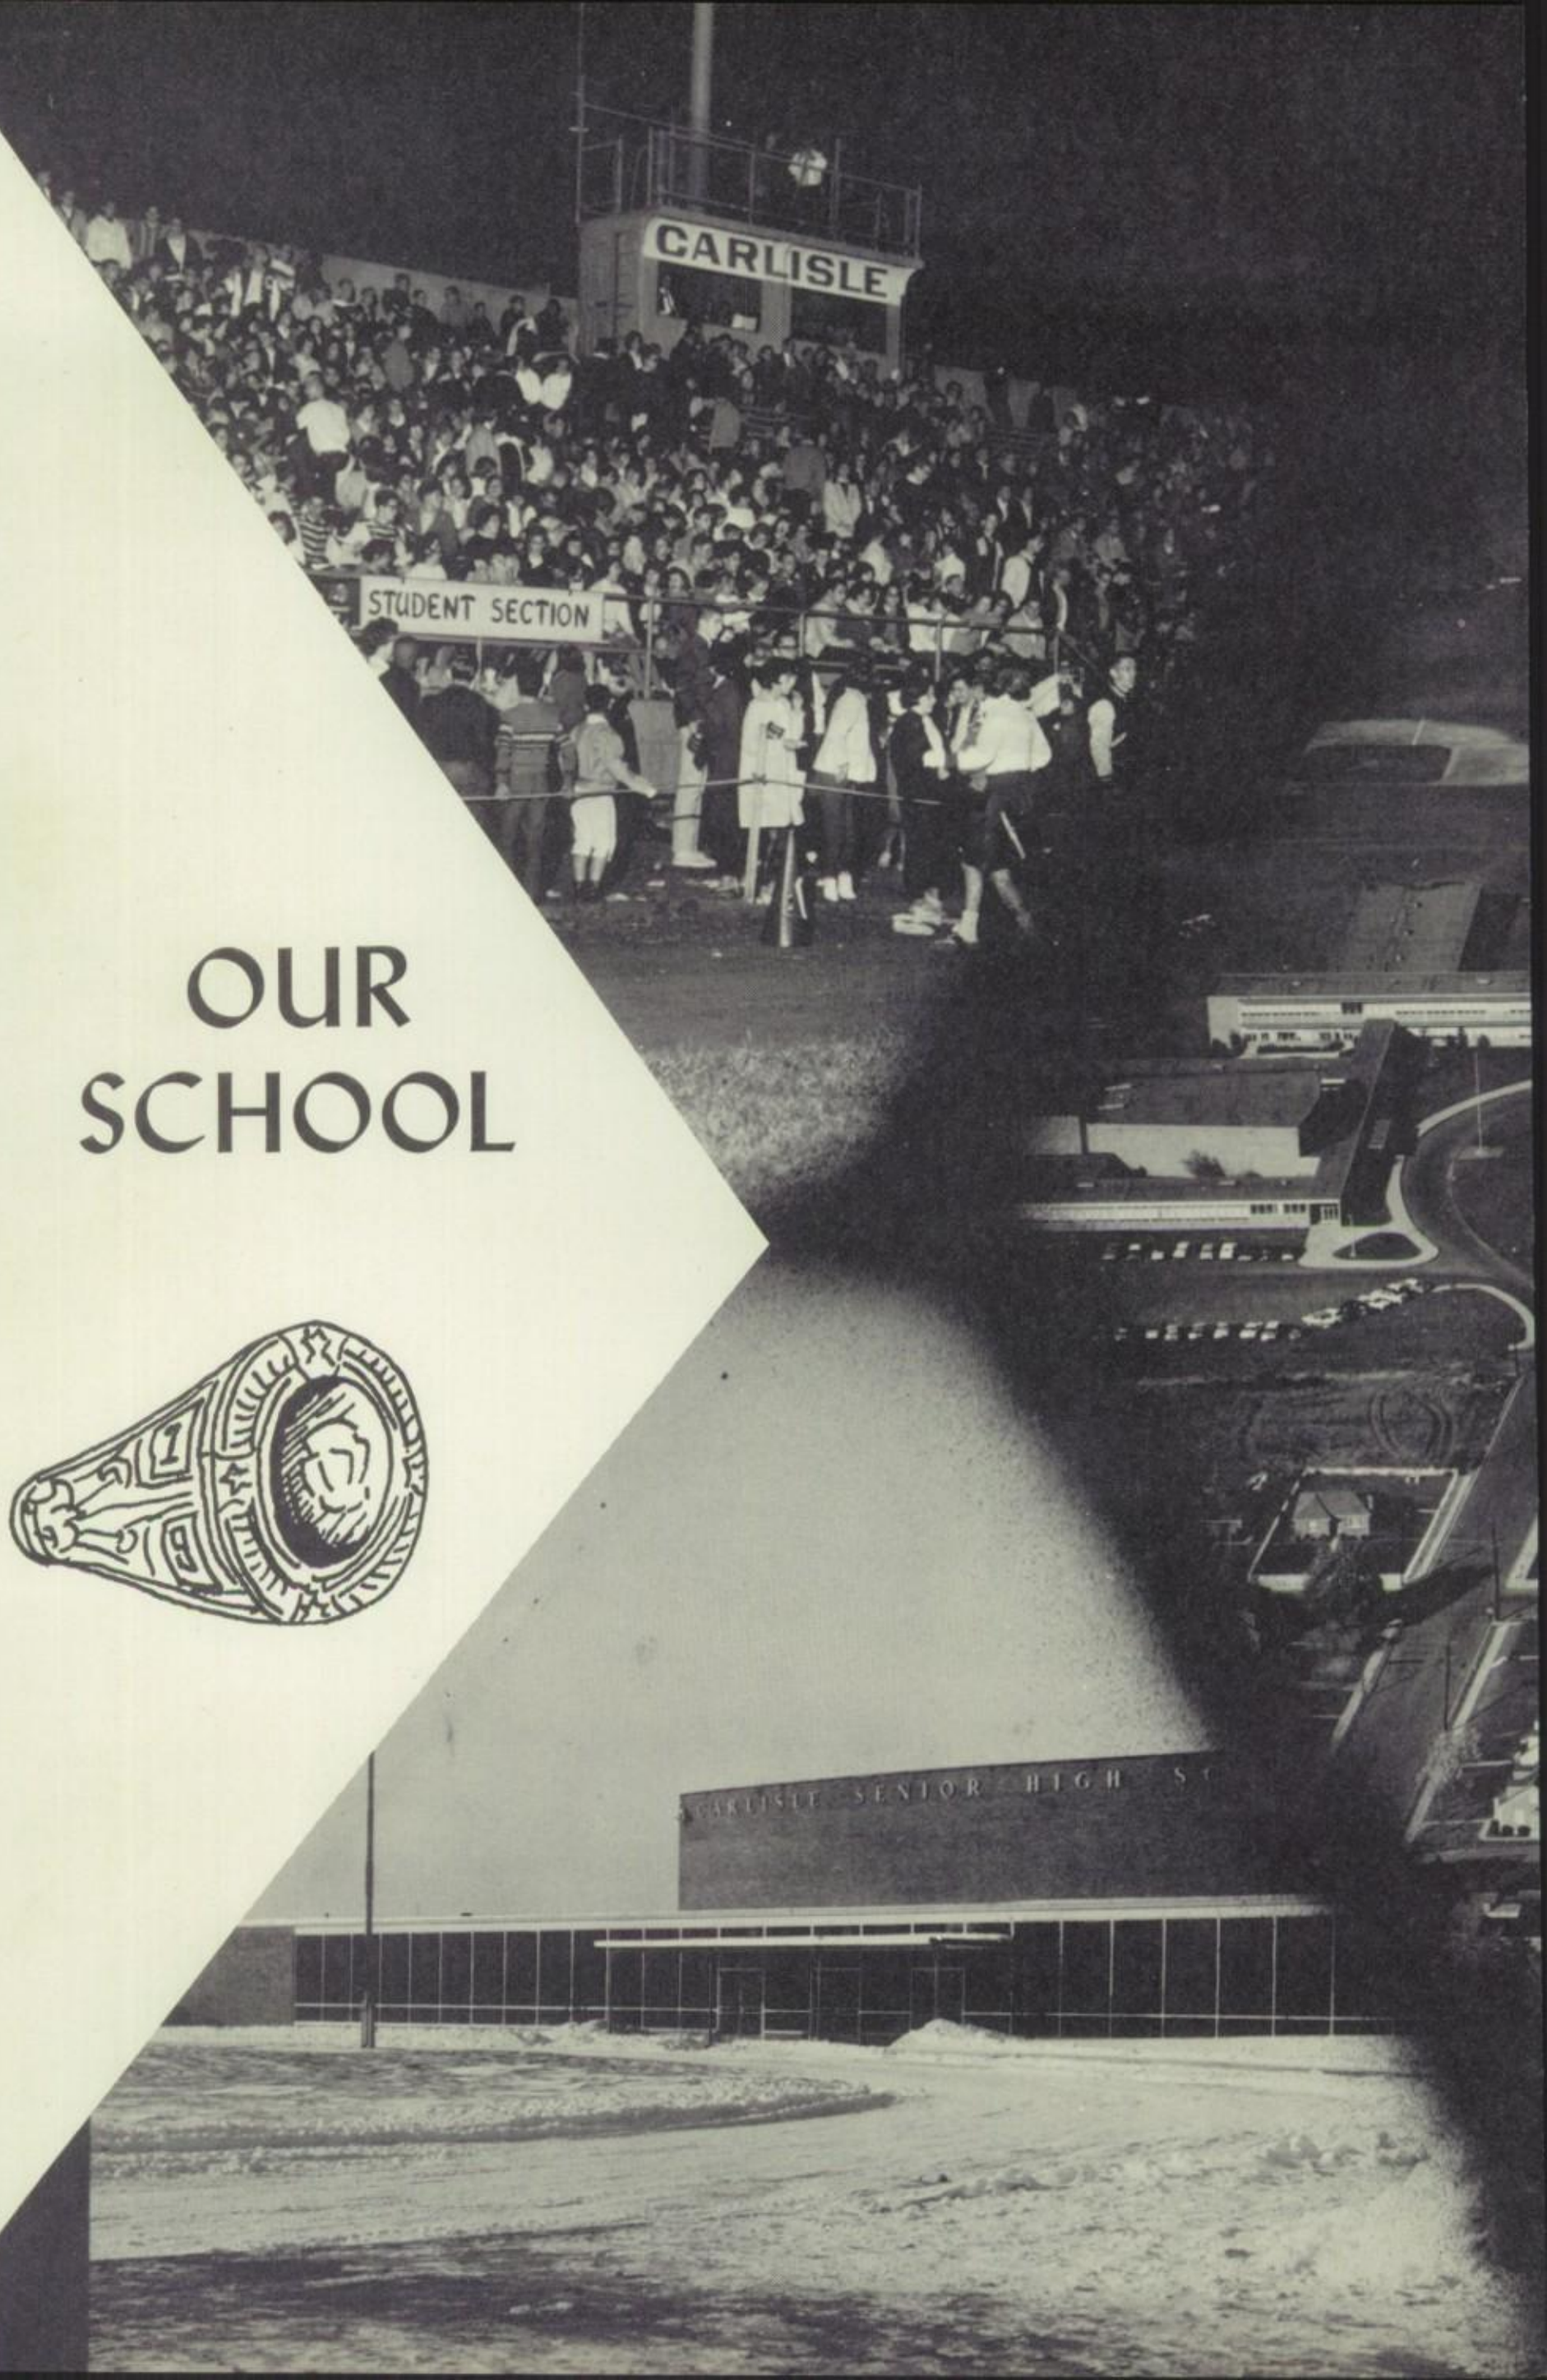
"Good nature and good sense must ever join" - Pope

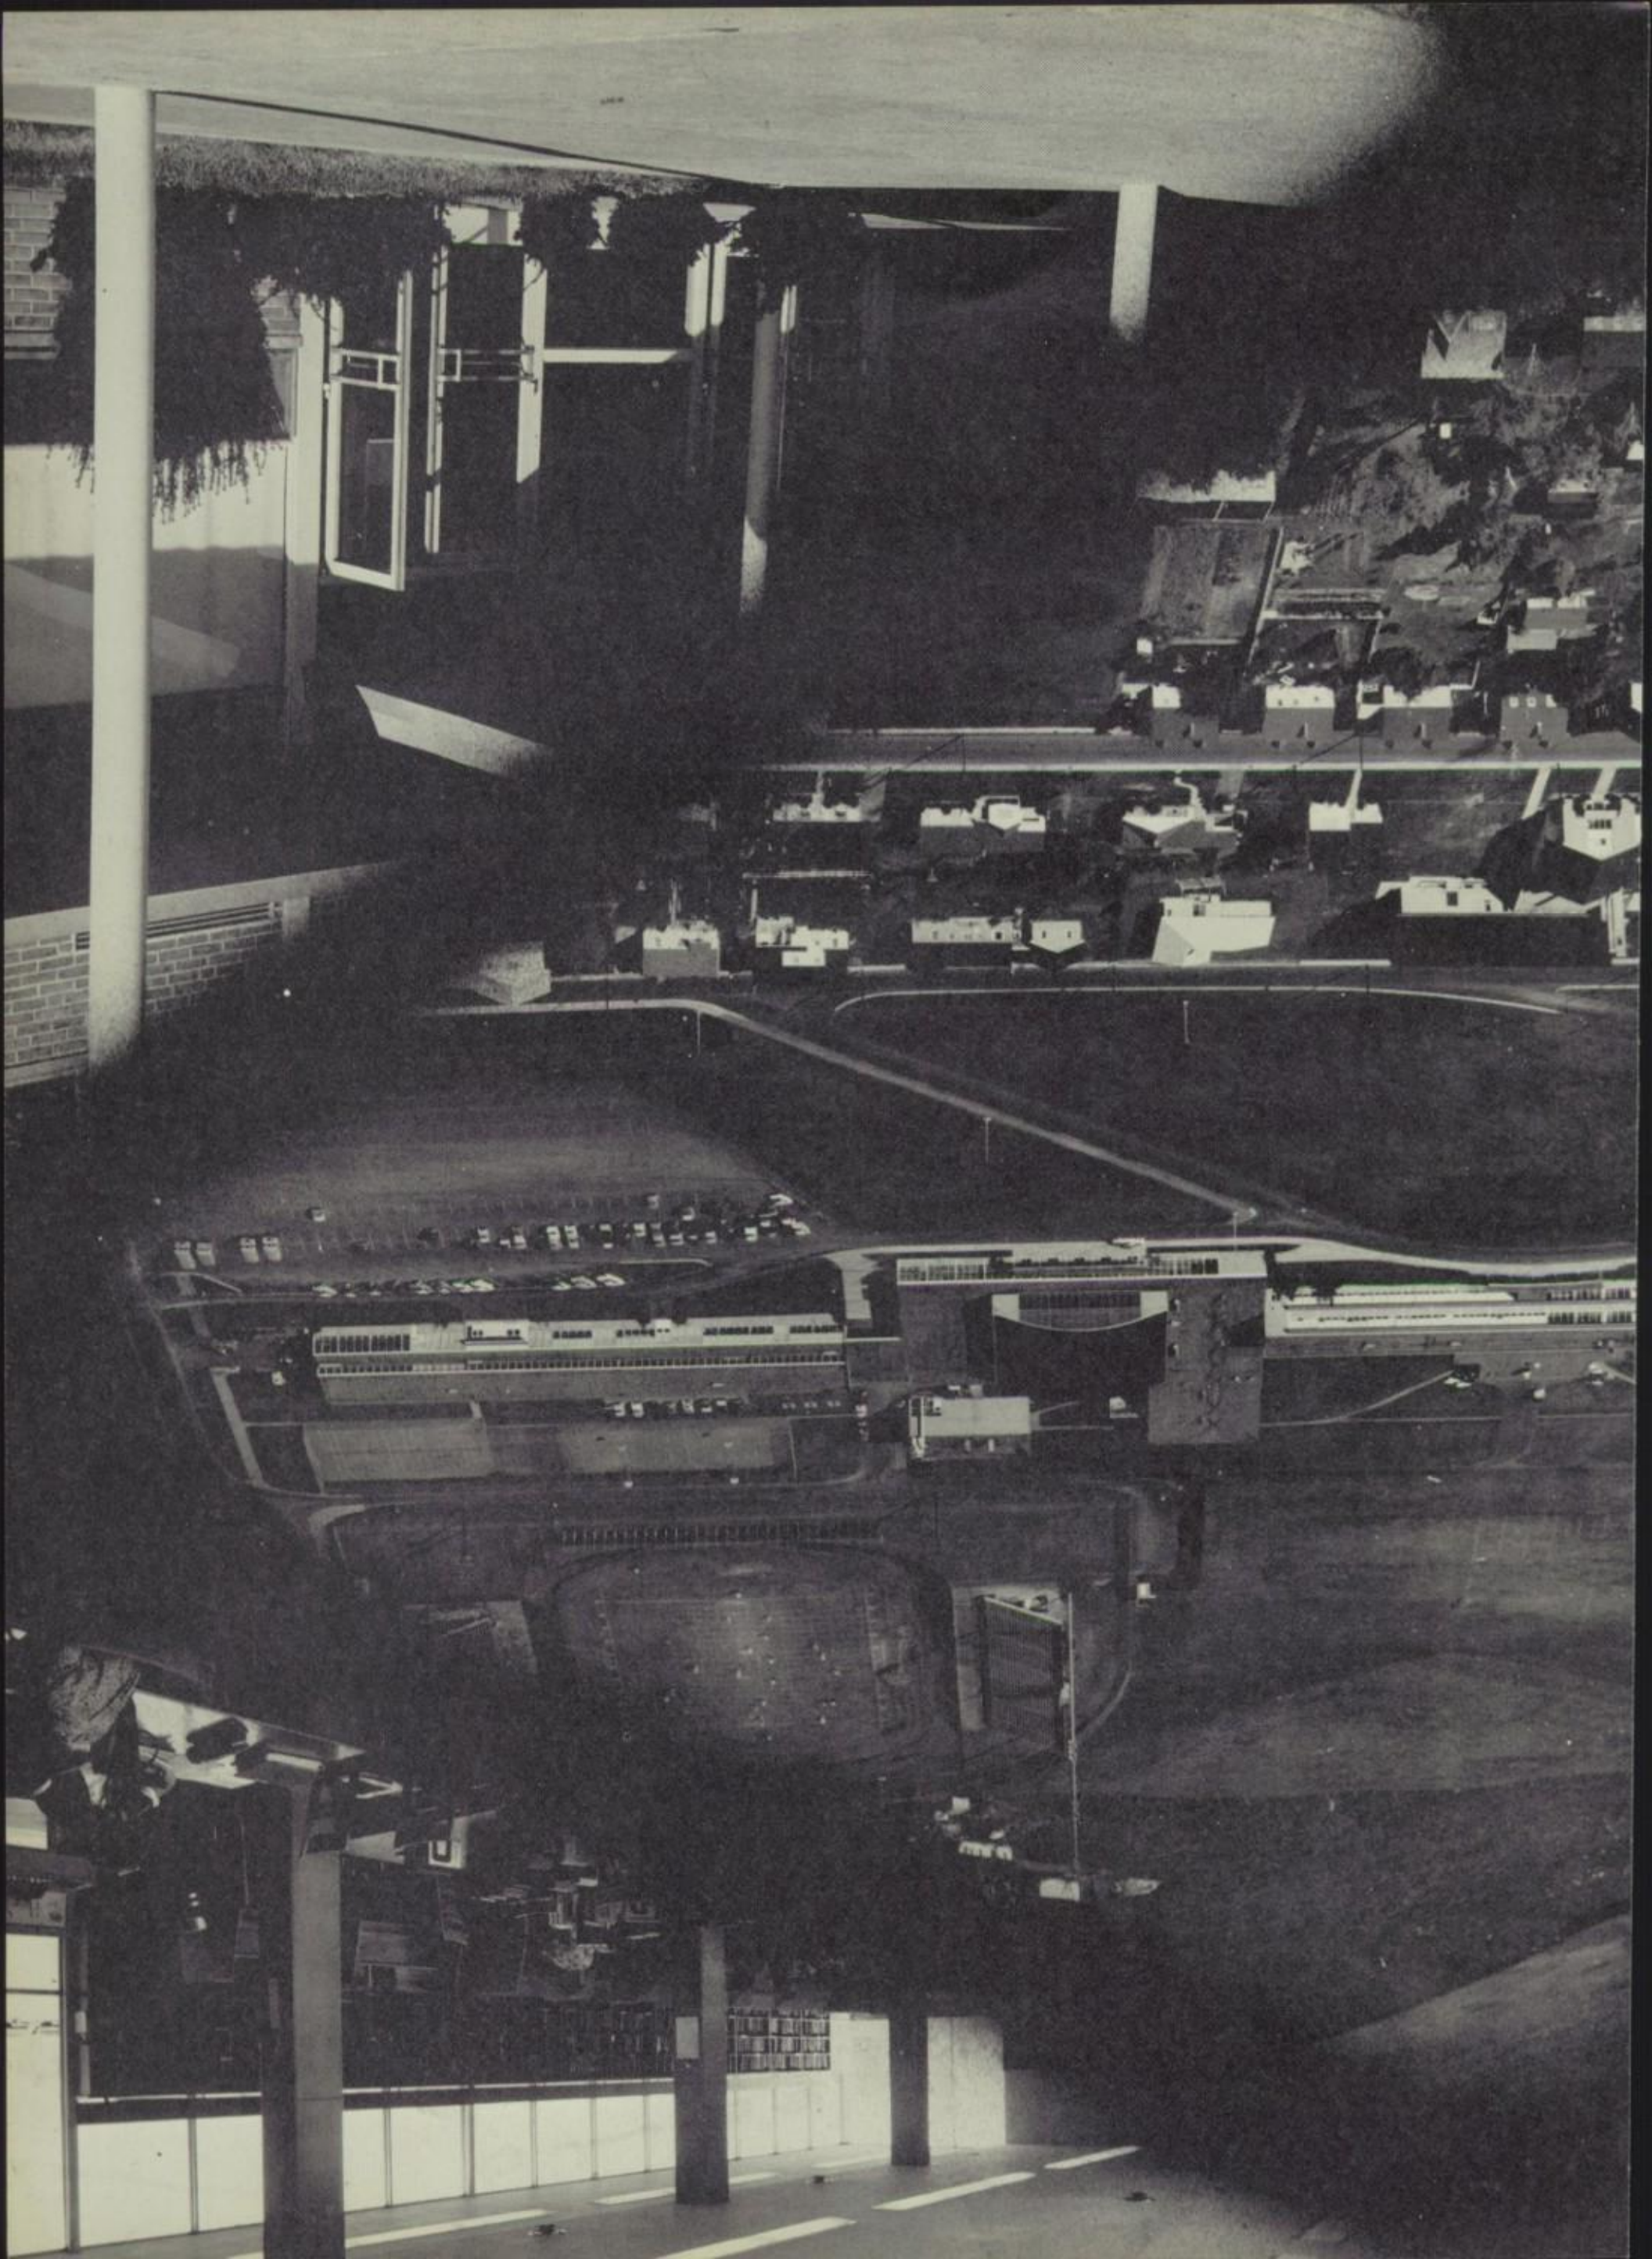
Combined, these qualities express the personal magnetism which students have discovered in William Earp, whose good nature is shown in his friendly relationship with students, both in and out of school. His guiding advice and inherent wisdom reveal his good sense.

In gratitude for his untiring patience and unwavering devotion to his responsibilities as guidance counselor to the Class of '64 during their junior high school years, the ORACLE staff affectionately dedicates this yearbook to William E. Earp.

"Do you really think it is wise to drop that subject?" Mr. Earp asks of a student.

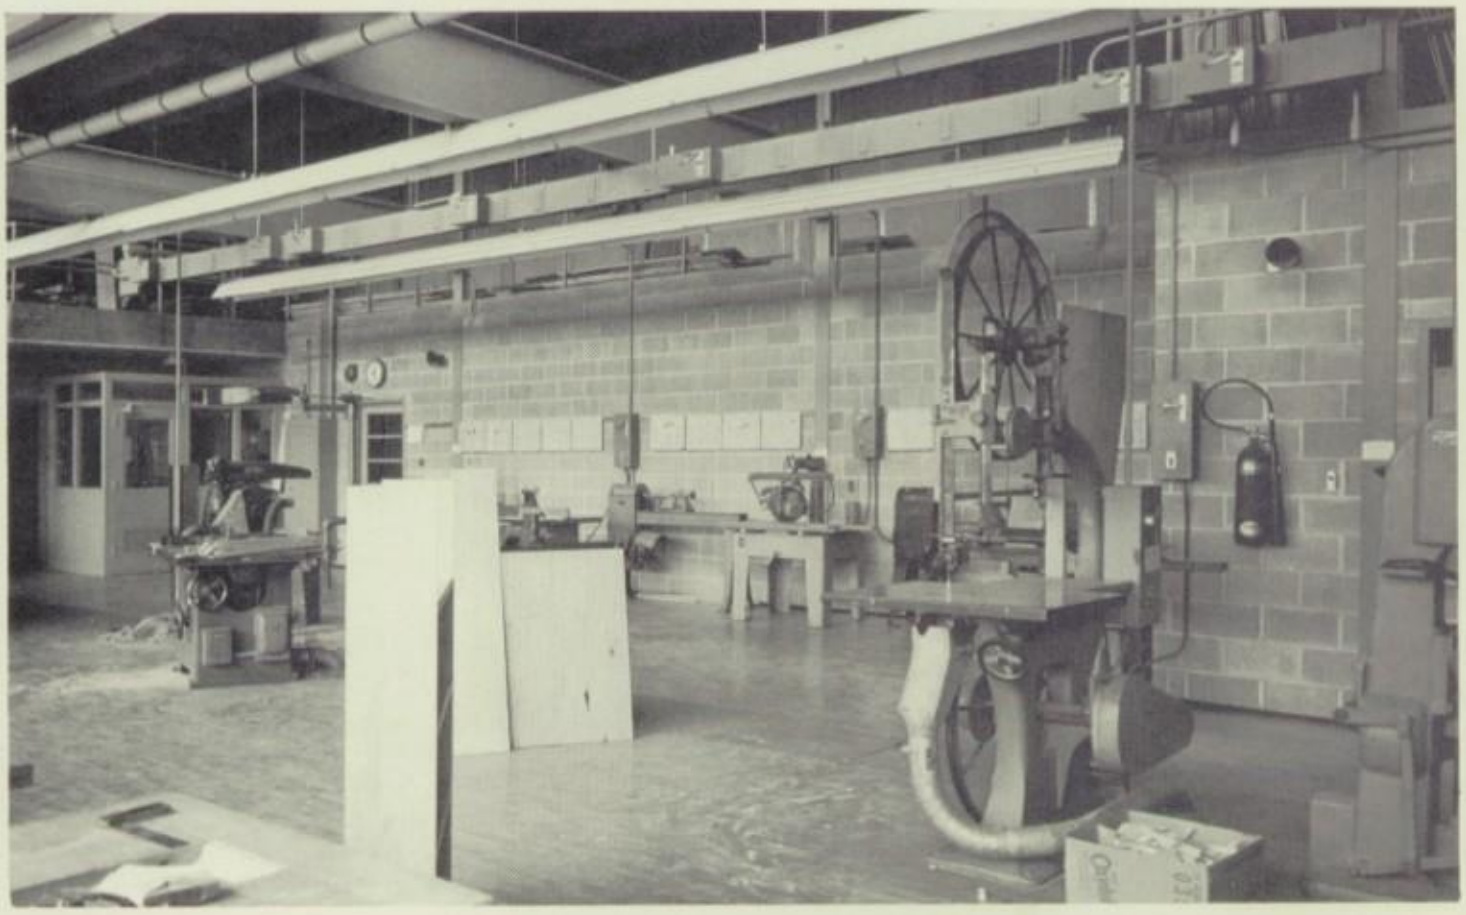
OUR SCHOOL





Carlisle Senior High School reveals its size, beauty, and surroundings from the air.

UP IN THE AIR



Future carpenters learn their trade here.

OR DOWN . . .

Auto, Building Trades, Electricity, Machine, and Mill and Cabinet Shops make up the Shop Wing.

ALL ARE

Beside the auditorium lies a peaceful patio.

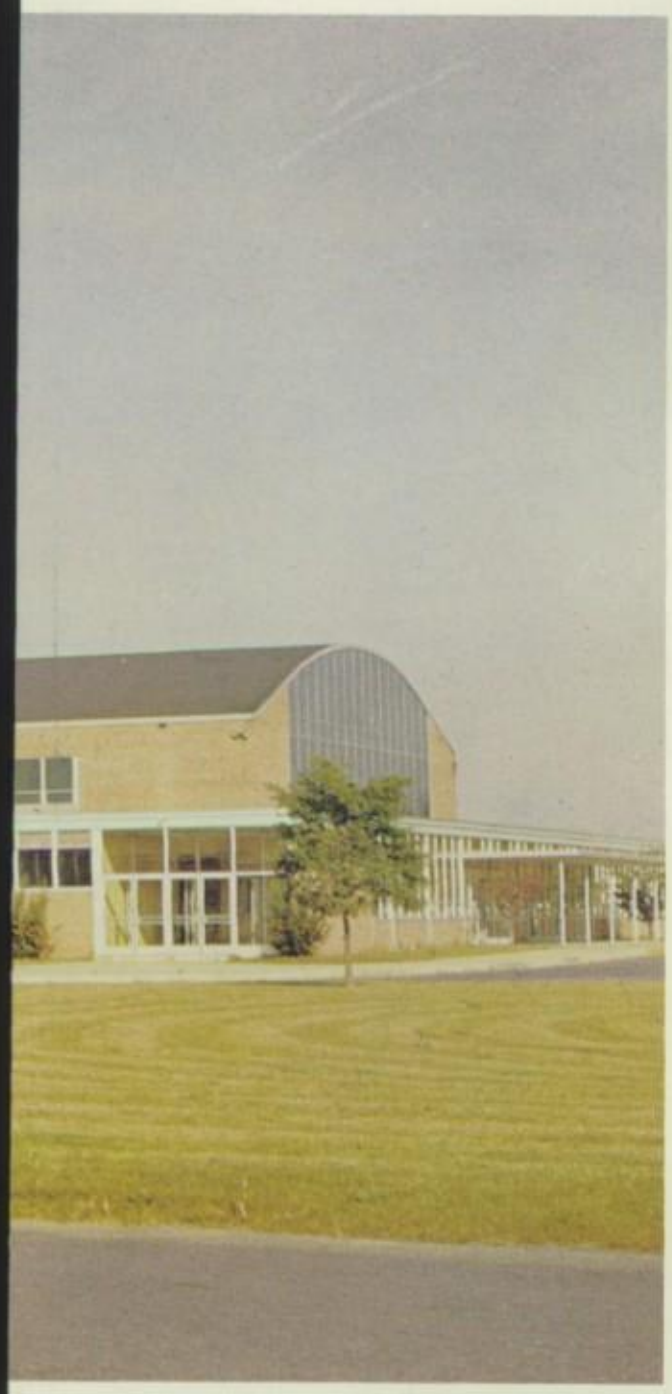
PROUD

At the football stadium many victories are won.



OF C.H.S.

Carlisle Senior High glows in the evening.

A GLANCE

From the second floor the auditorium wing can be seen.

Another attractive patio is found beside the library.

Here students gather before and after school.

AT C. H. S.

In the gym, where many rousing basketball games are won, all is quiet now.

Assemblies, plays, and movies are held in the auditorium.

New small-group dormitories, such as this one which is under construction, were built at Dickinson College.

Metzgar Hall, formerly used as a residence hall for Dickinson College women, was sold this year and a motel and gas station were erected on the site.

Thomas Kennedy, a CHS junior, was selected as one of seventy-five American students to tour Europe with the School Band of America. With Kennedy is Clyde M. Barr, CHS band director.

CUMBERLAND CO., CARLISLE MAKE IMPORTANT NEWS

In 1963 and early 1964 many important events occurred in Carlisle and Cumberland County. The polio epidemic made the biggest news, but new construction was important, too. Serious damage was caused by fires at Eppley's Drug Store, the Kappa Sigma fraternity house, and Bessie Jones' institution.

In the spring of 1963 twenty people were stricken as a polio epidemic hit Cumberland County. Crowds came to Carlisle Senior High School for oral vaccine clinics.

Participating in the ground-breaking ceremony for the Shopping Plaza at Albion Point are Carrol Warrell, Chamber of Commerce president; David Javitch, who originally planned the shopping center; Mayor William Hartzell; Robert Todd, councilman; and Frank Pasquerilla, president of Fran-Mark, Inc., contractors.

Karen Gallagher, a senior, was named Cumberland County Junior Miss and participated in the state Junior Miss Pageant at Reading.

Newly elected President of Carlisle Borough Council Robert M. Frey (seated) examines reports with George L. Ebener (left) and Jack Simmons, Council's two new members.

New facilities at the YMCA include this swimming pool, locker rooms, and a special exercise room.

Less than two hours after the death of President John F. Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson was given the oath of office by District Court Judge Sarah Hughes (left). Beside Johnson are his wife, Lady Bird, and Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT SHOCKS NATION

Friday, November 22, 1963, will be remembered as the tragic day John Fitzgerald Kennedy, thirty-fifth President of the United States, was assassinated in Dallas, Texas. The Kennedy Administration's biggest achievements were establishing the Peace Corps and negotiating a nuclear test ban treaty with Russia.

More than 200,000 people marched on Washington to demonstrate for civil rights. Elsewhere demonstrations weren't always this peaceful, however, as the racial crisis shook the nation. Violence reached its peak in Birmingham, Alabama, where four Negro girls were killed in the bombing of a church.

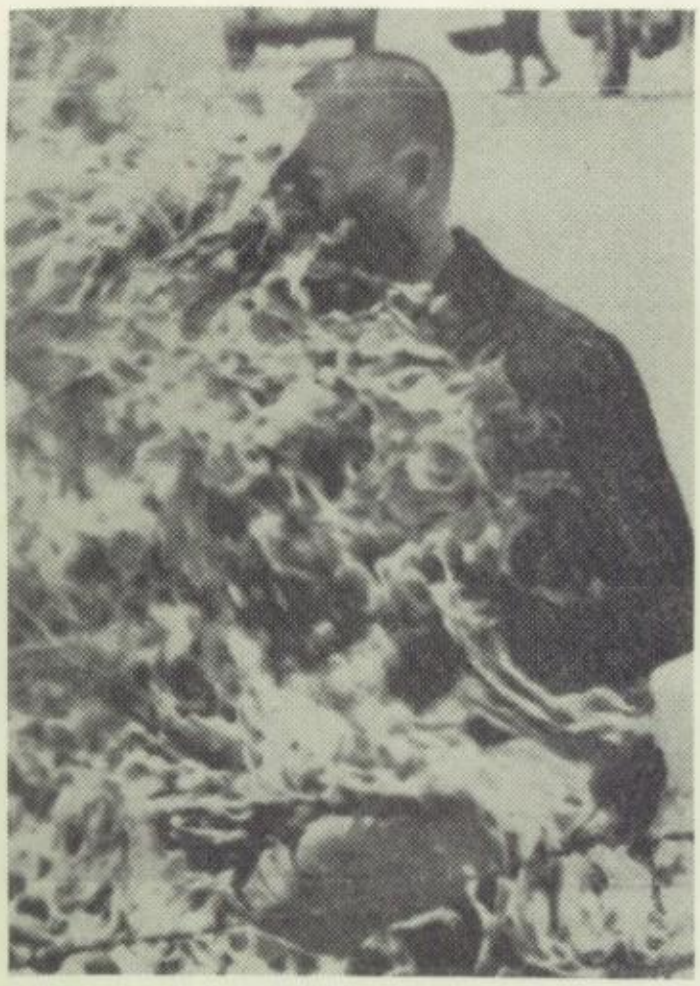
1961-1963

John-John salutes as his father's casket passes.

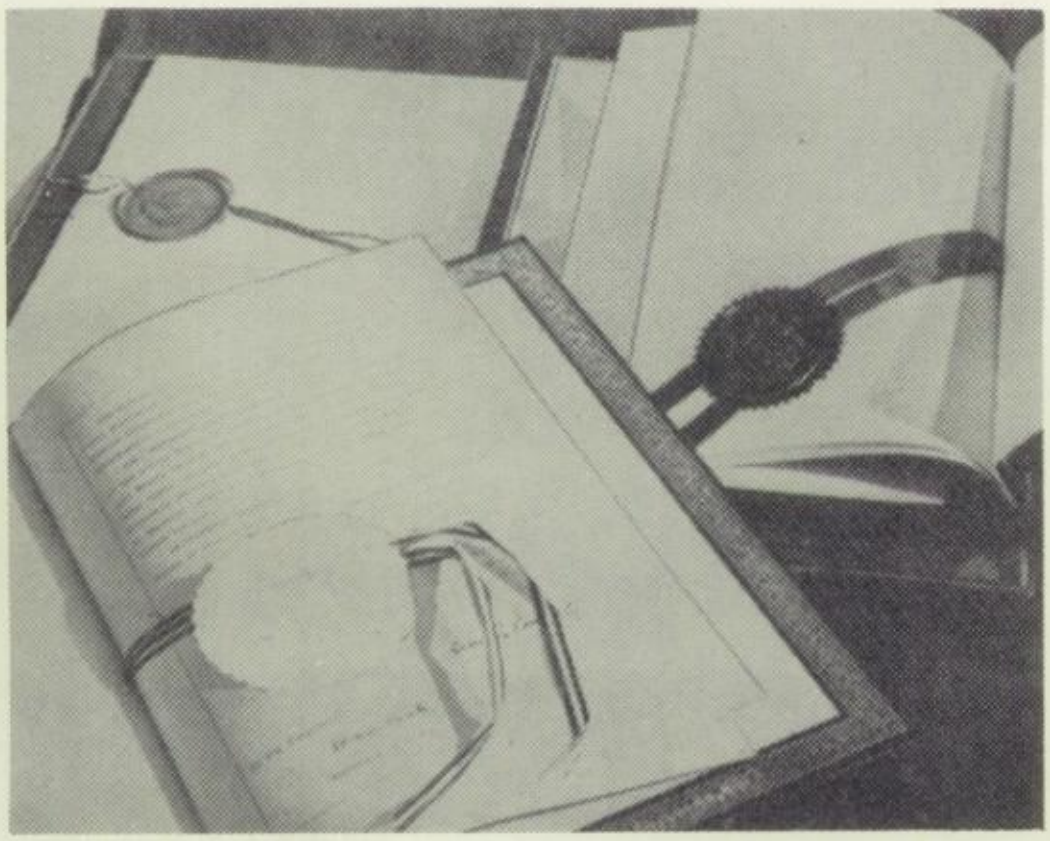


In Viet Nam, Buddhists burned themselves to protest Ngo Dinh Diem's regime, which was overthrown in November.

Pope Paul VI was crowned successor to Pope John XXIII as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

HOPE FOR PEACE RAISED IN 1963

Hopes for world peace were raised when the nuclear test ban treaty was signed; however, sadness also came to the world as Pope John died.



Hope for peace rose as Russia and the United States agreed to a test ban treaty, which was ratified by a large majority in the Senate.

Thieves who stole $7 million in a train robbery in England covered their heads as they left court.

Two-tone hair, such as Shirley Giselman's, adorned many girls this year.

To make all of Margi Brenner's wishes come true, Dick Bushey unties her yarn ring.

Jane Bolan is in style with patches on the elbows of her blouse.

Wearing a shift, Sue Gussman seems happy as a lark.

C. H. S. STUDENTS KEEP UP WITH LATEST FADS

Many girls, including Patti Pope, wore wooden bracelets and rings.

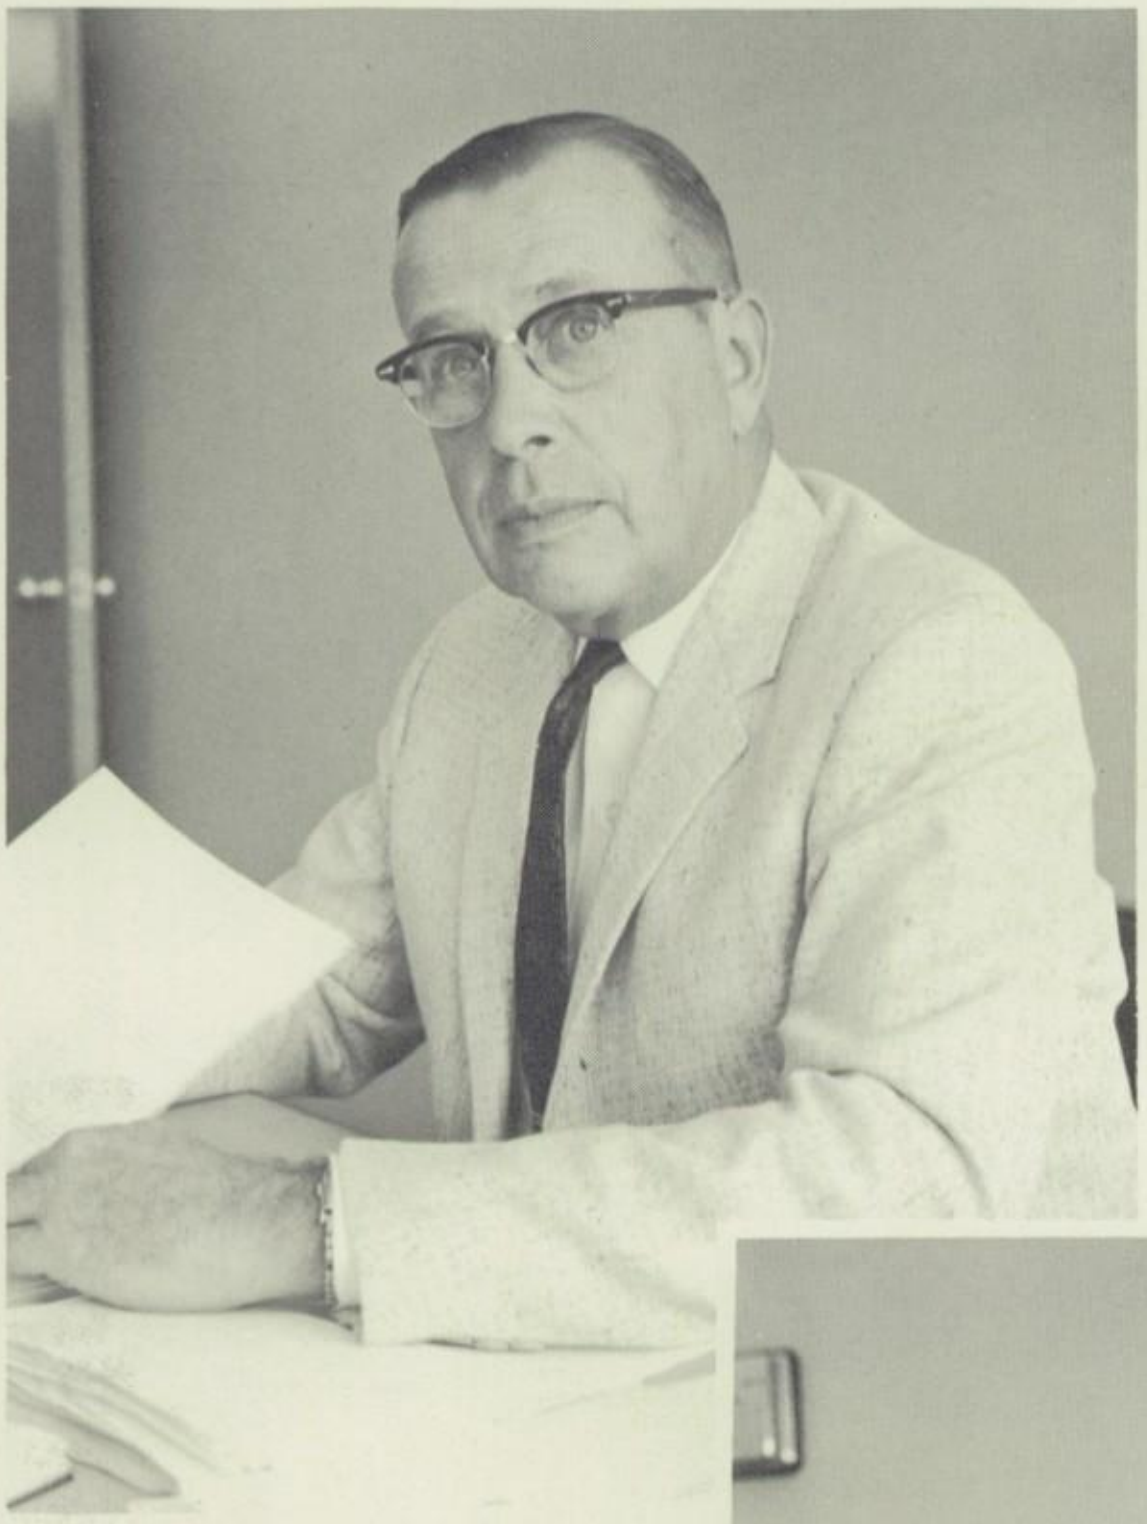
COMMITTEE PLANS FOR NEW SCHOOL

The Joint School Committee and Superintendant of Schools David L. Swartz planned for the entire term. The members of the board undertook such important matters as maintenance of schools, election of new teachers, approving of budgets, and the important matter of construction of the new intermediate high school for ninth and tenth graders.

David L. Swartz, Superintendant of schools.

PRINCIPALS SUPERVISE SCHOOL ACTIVITIES



Busy Principal Mark Burkhart checks over federal forms.

Vice-principal Harold North takes out a schedule card before observing a class.

Leo C. Johns and Henry G. Witman, school guidance counselors, prepare a career bulletin board near the guidance offices.

THESE PEOPLE SERVE US DAILY

Director of Vocational and Adult Education E. I. Eastep checks his list of applicants for adult education classes.

Former Carlisle High School band director Hans W. Uberseder, is now serving his second year as Director of Musical Education in Carlisle schools.

Typing the daily announcements, answering the telephone, and recording the day's absentee list are just some of the many jobs performed each day by school secretaries Miss Delores Cohick, Mrs. Eleanor Green, and Mrs. Kathryn Frederick.

IN DIVERSE WAYS

As secretary to the psychologist, Mrs. Alice Smith corrects tests on the IBM test scoring machine.

One of the duties of Mrs. Evelyn Millen, CHS nurse, is checking the height and weight of each student.

Mrs. Dorothy Stearns, chief dietician, plans all menus for the cafeterias of the Carlisle School System.

"Don't be afraid to gesture," Mr. Beckman advises his speech class.

"Shakespeare performed here," points out Mr. Bowers to his interested class.

Mrs. Clendening waits patiently for a student to complete his description of Charles Darnay.

Surrounded by stacks of papers, Mrs. Cohen appears to be searching for still others.

ENGLISH IS STUDIED

Since English is a basic requirement for all CHS students, the Language Arts Department with Miss Isabelle Hoover as head has tried to provide a variety of interesting courses for its students.

Sophomores read A TALE OF TWO CITIES and JULIUS CAESAR in the course of their study in English. Vocabulary is stressed, and basic grammar rules are reviewed.

Journalism, a junior honor course, instructs students in writing skills. Students may also elect Drama, the honor course designed to study the skills and techniques of the theatre. Juniors also study American Literature, read THE RED BADGE OF COURAGE, and write a reference paper and many compositions.

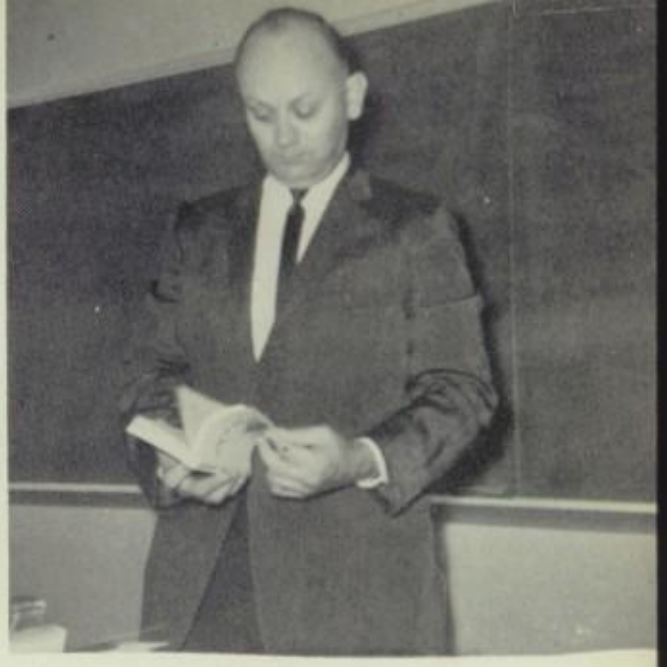
The Novel is a new course offered at CHS to seniors who wish to study in detail the works of twentieth century authors. World Literature is an honor course devoted to the study of well-known selections chosen by the students themselves. Senior students read in depth MACBETH, THE RETURN OF THE NATIVE, and English Literature in survey form, write a senior essay, and continue the study of grammar.

Linda West wisks through her English test, but Mary Wagner seems to be having a little trouble with one of the questions.

As they study a model of the Globe Theater, Donald Shughart and Donald Hoover gain new understanding of Shakespeare's art.

Miss Gardner pauses momentarily to allow a student to catch up with her.

During a free moment Miss Hoover compares the differences in yearbook style.



As he searches for a particular passage in the novel, Mr. Kirsch pauses briefly.

BY MANY METHODS

WARREN BECKMAN, B.S., Central Missouri State College; teaches speech and English; directs Junior and Senior Class plays; Dramatics Club adviser. JAMES G. BOWERS, B. A., Dickinson; studied at Shippensburg and U. of Penna.; English, Humanities; J.V. football coach; only hobby is lynchings. MARY E. CLENDENING, B.A., Dickinson; English; enjoys being a home executive and working jumbled word puzzles; likes juniors to do well in English. JANICE M. COHEN, B.S., Bucknell University; teaches English, Humanities; Junior Class adviser; likes finding improvement in student compositions. MARGARET C. GARDNER, B.A., Bates Univ.; M. Ed., Boston U.; English, Drama; Publicity Committee for Jr. Class play; likes reading, collecting cookbooks. ISABELLE R. HOOVER, B.A., Dickinson; M.A., University of Michigan; English, ORACLE; FTA adviser; likes bridge, travel enjoys seeing pupils develop responsibility. W. J. KIRSCH, B.S., Indiana State; M.Ed., Western Maryland; English, the Novel; enjoys jazz; likes working with students who can write creatively. BONNIE T. NEIMAN, B.A., Dickinson; English; enjoys swimming, sewing, and art; pleased when pupils request additional outside help.

Mrs. Neiman seems to be amused by a student's reaction to her question.

Nancy Keller, Bill Kelly, and Bill Baker discuss some of the literary works of Ernest Hemingway.

"This should be a comma," thinks Mr. Prettyman as he corrects a set of papers.

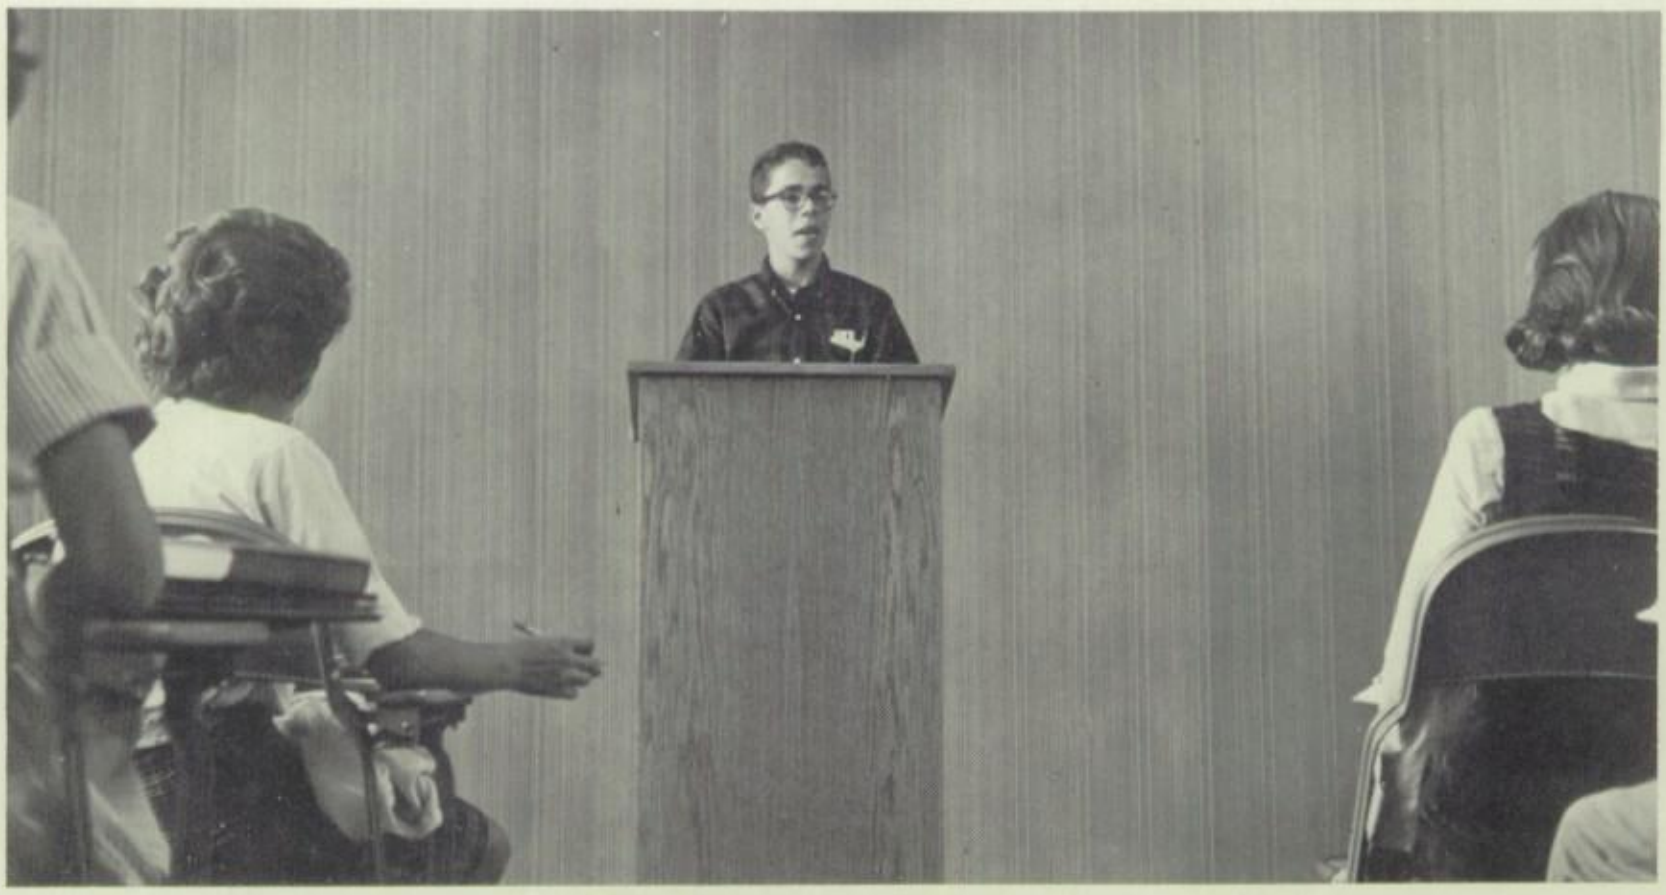
Perched on a desk, Miss Schuettler discusses "Vanity Fair" with her world literature class.

Mrs. Walz quickly reviews a short story before her next class arrives.

By means of a globe, Mrs. Ward puts a touch of variety into her discussion of universality.

STUDENTS IMPROVE

EDWIN P. PRETTYMAN, B.S., Maryland State; M.Ed., Penn State; English; Senior Class adviser; Budget Club; plays golf, enjoys hi-fi. DILYS SCHUETTLER, B.S., West Chester; M.A. T., Duke; Humanities, World Literature, journalism, PERISCOPE; enjoys seeing CHS students succeed in college. RUTH H. WALZ, B.A., Dickinson; English; Charm Club adviser; enjoys reading, sewing, and riding; impressed by the manners of the students. HELEN P. WARD, B.A., St. Lawrence University; English; advises the Thespians; likes poetry, children; enjoys watching students actually learning.



Delivering his first speech of the year, sophomore Don Shall explains to his classmates "How to fly a kite in a closet."

Miss Merkle is amused by attempts at a Spanish cheer during cheerleading practice.

Putting up a new bulletin board in the language wing seems to engross Miss Nolen.

"Come in, Cape Canaveral," calls Miss Thomas during a language laboratory period.

LANGUAGE SKILLS

The Language Department endeavors to increase the use of the foreign languages, to perfect pronunciation, and to become acquainted with the cultures of different countries.

By using the language laboratory, students can listen to tapes and record their voices at the same time.

Foreign Language Ability Augmented By Laboratory

"Mire usted el pa'jaro" (watch the birdie), the photographer tells Miss Weary.

Kris Olsen adjusts her head piece to listen to a French tape in the language laboratory.

MARY L. MERKLE, B.S., Kutztown; M.Ed., Penn State; Spanish; advises the cheerleaders; enjoys hiking; likes students to speak Spanish well. CAROLINE NOLEN, B.A., Dickinson; M.A., University of Penna.; Latin; attended Penn State, William & Mary; likes music; impressed by fine boys and girls. ANNA MARY THOMAS, B.A., Wilson; studied at Columbia and Sorbonne; French; likes bridge; French Club adviser; appreciates the language laboratory. SANDRA LEE WEARY, A.B., Alabama College; studied at Université de Bordeaux, Middlebury, University of California; French, Spanish; collects records.

NEWER WAYS TEACHERS INSIGHT

"Over two, up five," thinks Miss Adams as she plots a curve for her advanced math class.

During a dull moment in the world series, Mr. Bradley resorts to cutting out paper dolls.

Pupils Practice Daily

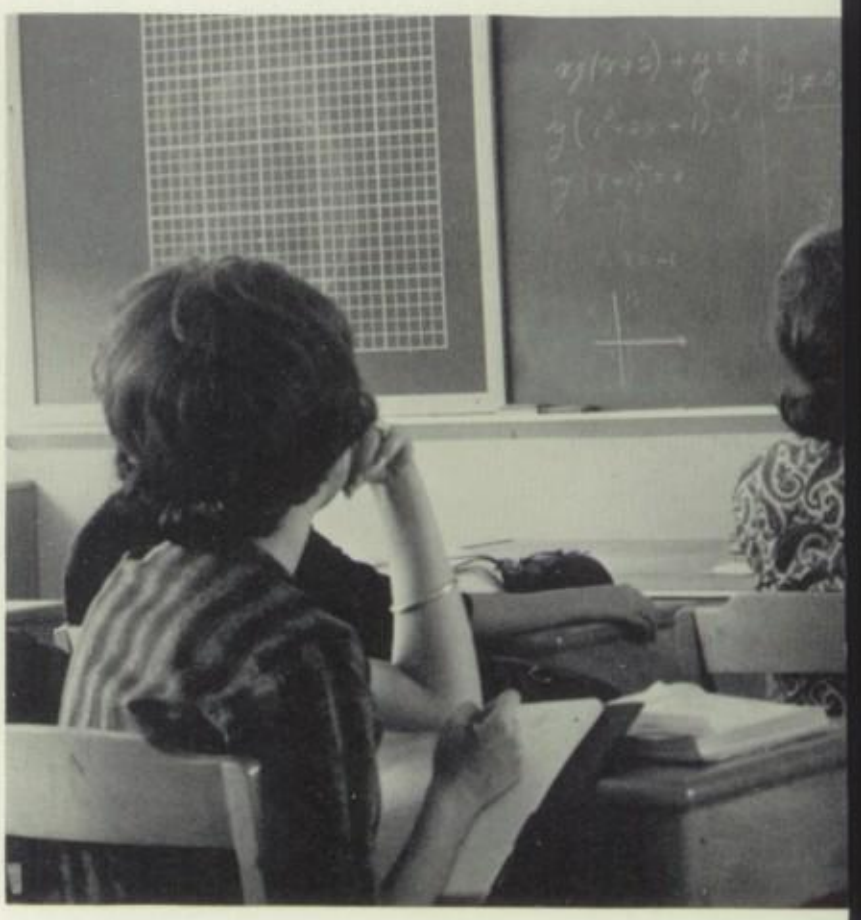
The Mathematics Department, directed by Miss Martha Adams, strives to make the study of mathematics both profitable and interesting to students at Carlisle Senior High School.

Sophomores are taught geometry by classroom lectures and visual aids. Pupils learn the fundamentals by using various geometric figures.

Students are offered Algebra I and II, and teachers add variety by using graphs, charts, and filmstrips.

Math analysis and advanced math are open to students extremely interested in mathematics. Some trigonometry is included in these courses.

Business and general math are offered to those students who will enter the business world, and mathematics is also necessary to help students in the machine and electrical shops.



Don:

As You KEEP MOVING
Richard D. Hammann

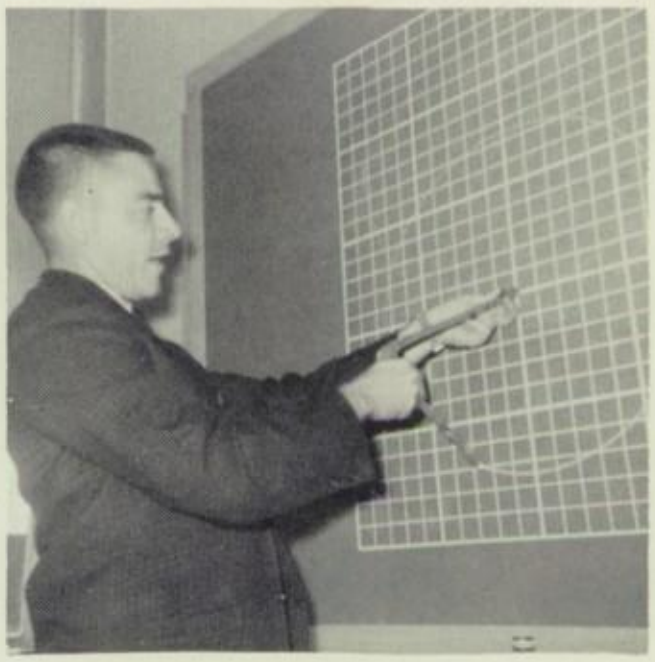
In a study hall, Mr. Hammann explains a geometric problem to Dave Hayes.

USED BY GIVE NEW TO PUPILS

Mr. Eastep pauses while scheduling adult education classes for interested citizens.

Taking the easy way out, Mr. Hammann uses the abacus instead of his fingers in adding.

Miss Adams explains inequalities to her math analysis class.



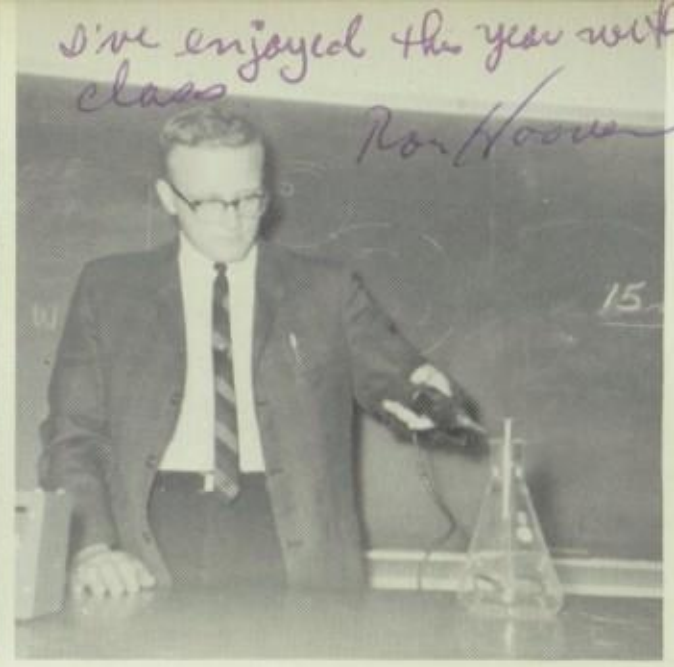
Mr. Kelleher holds his breath and steadies his hand while he uses the large compass in algebra class.

MARTHA E. ADAMS, B.A., Dickinson; M. Ed., Penn State; attended University of Colorado; mathematical analysis, advanced mathematics; Slide Rule Club. GEORGE A. BRADLEY, B.S., Shippensburg; M.A., University of Kentucky; teaches mathematics; advises Projection Club; likes fishing, and hunting. E. I. EASTEP, B.S., M. Ed., Penn State; directs vocational and adult education; enjoys swimming, travel; appreciates student and faculty cooperation. RICHARD D. HAMMANN, B.S., West Chester; teaches geometry, Humanities; FTA adviser; Hi-Y adviser; enjoys music and record collecting; likes cooperative spirit at CHS. DENNIS J. KELLEHER, B.S., Shippensburg; M. Ed., Penn State; Algebra II; likes chess; impressed by high percentage of passing grades in last year's courses. DALE H. REINECKER, A.B., Gettysburg; M.S., Baylor; teaches Algebra I, geometry, vocational math; plays golf; enjoys teaching and working with pupils.

As he takes a break from his paper work, Mr. Reinecker consults his grade book.

Using a diagram, Mr. Fox explains the conjunctiva to his biology group.

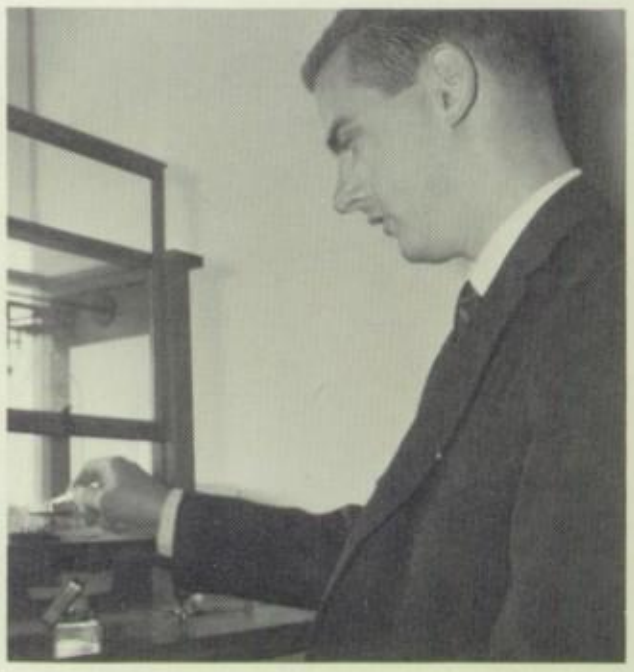
"Where did I put that book?" wonders Mr. Hall before his students arrive.



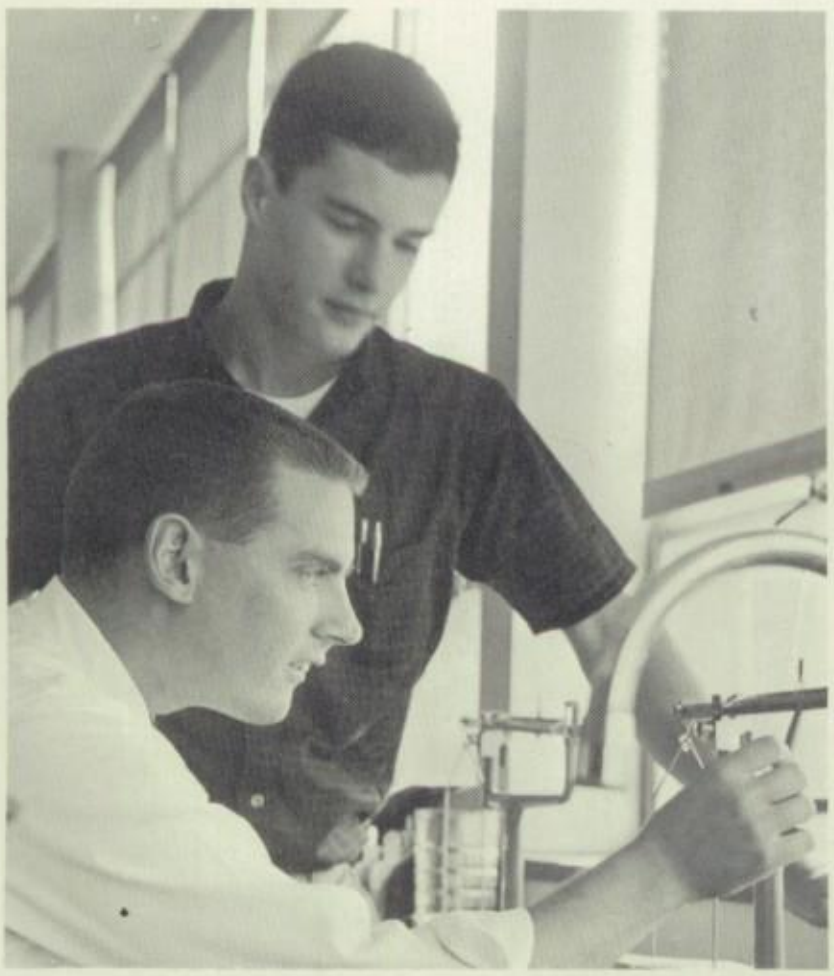
Mr. Hoover demonstrates charging an electroscope by means of a tensilecoil.

STUDIES FURTHERED

EDWARD A. FOX, B.S., Bloomsburg; teaches biology; advises Biology Club; enjoys music, sports; appreciates student cooperation at CHS. HARRY W. HALL, B.S., Lebanon Valley; M.A., Columbia University; biology, natural sciences; impressed by courtesy, cleanliness, and promptness at CHS. L. RONALD HOOVER, B.S., Shippensburg; M.A., Washington University; physics, vocational science; enjoys water skiing, boating, and tennis. LEON E. KAUFFMAN, A.B., Franklin and Marshall; chemistry; FTA Club adviser, directs intramural sports; impressed by quality of instructional staff. CHESTER LICKEL, B.S., Shippensburg; M.Ed., Penn State; teaches biology; manages Carlisle Swim Club; pleased when former students succeed.



Concentration and steady nerves allow Mr. Kauffman to complete his measurement.



John Wendt watches while Mr. Kauffman checks the balance of the scales in chemistry class.

JOHN J. McDERMOTT, B.S., Shippensburg; M.S., U. of Delaware; biology, nuclear sciences; Science Fair coach; likes to watch students grow academically. MARLIN L. ROOK, B.S., Penn State; teaches biology; enjoys raising horses and going hunting; blushes easily. LEON E. ZEIDERS, B.S., Penn State; physics, advises Camera Club; enjoys tennis, swimming, hunting, reading; likes to see well dressed students.

Crowded conditions prove to be a problem for Mr. Lickel while arranging cactus in the greenhouse.

During a homeroom period, Mr. McDermott catches up on some paper work.

"And here the bees set up housekeeping," explains Mr. Rook to his biology group.

Mr. Zeiders carefully replaces the cylinder weights after a classroom demonstration.

BY LABORATORY WORK

In today's world a knowledge of sciences is becoming increasingly important. The Science Department with Mr. Leon Kauffman as its head helps to set up a variety of courses to inform CHS students.

Sophomore students are required to study Biology I primarily through classroom lectures, insect and wild flower collections, and laboratory periods. Students who wish to delve more deeply into the mysteries of life and the structure of living things may elect Biology II. In this course teachers add variety by frequent field trips, lab periods, dissections, and demonstrations.

Juniors may elect physics in order to learn more about mass, energy, and work. Classroom demonstrations, visual aids, and experiments are used by both students and instructors.

Chemistry is the delight of many seniors, and under the watchful eyes of the instructor many experiments are completed, and several chemical compounds are concocted.

Natural science is a combined study of physics and chemistry. Nuclear science teaches scientific disciplines through experiments with radio isotopes.

After looking at microscopic animals through the microscope in Biology II, Fran Hefelfinger and Margi Brenner begin their lab write-ups.

As he plays the harried reporter, Mr. Coolidge bangs away at the keyboard while preparing a quiz.

Pleased by the accuracy of his students, Mr. Gabler enjoys correcting tests.

While he waits for his next class, Mr. Heckler reviews his economics lesson.

HISTORY ACQUAINTS

Under the direction of Mr. Raymond Gabler, the Social Studies Department strives to acquaint students with the past and to help them understand the modern world today.

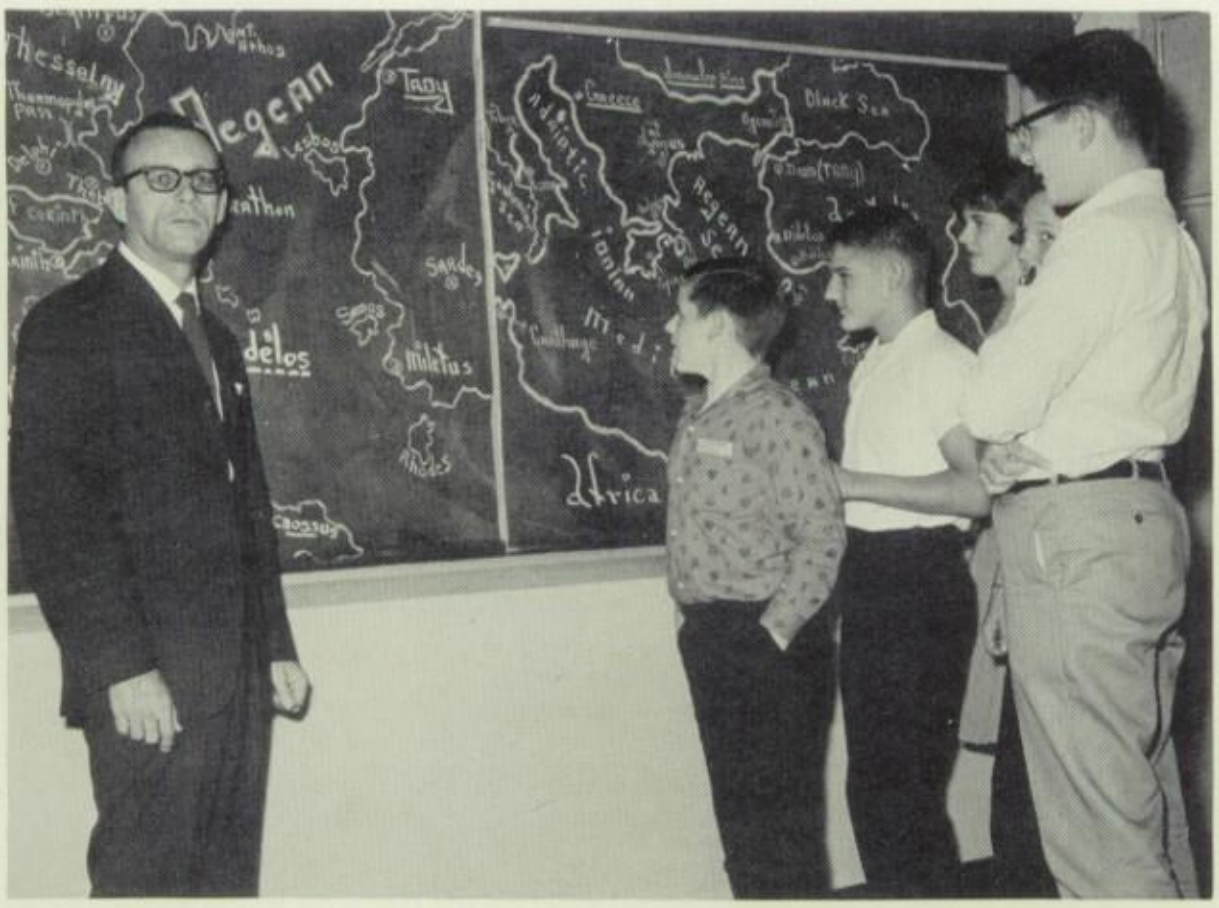
Sophomores delve into the culture of ancient civilizations and study progress through the ages.

United States history is taught during the junior year by means of classroom lectures and recitations. Films and other visual aids add variety to the learning process.

Through the study of current events, book reports, and filmstrips, seniors become well aware of the world situation today. A newly instituted unit of economics required by state law is now incorporated into the various senior history courses.

Two elective subjects, geography and psychology, help to broaden the student's view of the modern world.

"All present and accounted for?" questions Mr. James before beginning his world culture class.



Bewildered by the artistic ability of Mr. Morgan, members of his world culture class wonder how he does it.

Admiring his bronzed cap presented to him by the coaching staff of CHS Mr. Millen recalls his many years as a football coach.

Making use of his artistic talent, Mr. Morgan traces the voyage of Columbus to the New World.

To analyze his own personality, Mr. Rupp consults his psychology book.

Study hall provides an opportunity for Mr. Whitehead to work out new football plays.

US WITH OLD, NEW

WARREN F. COOLIDGE, B.A., Dickinson; M.A., Penn State; teaches current history and economics; athletic faculty manager; Student Council adviser. RAYMOND S. GABLER, B.S., Shippensburg; M.A., Columbia University; U.S. History; club coordinator; member of Area D World Cultures Study Council. DAVID M. HECKLER, B.S., East Stroudsburg; current history, geography, health; varsity basketball coach, assistant football and baseball coach. J. WESLEY JAMES, B.A., Dickinson; world cultures; seldom uses the blackboard; enjoys participating in sports and collecting coins. K. R. MILLEN, B.S., U. of Illinois; U.S. history; athletic director, director of intramurals; pleased with athletic program at CHS. STANLEY Q. MORGAN, B.S., East Stroudsburg; world cultures; football line coach, varsity track coach; hobby is library work; enjoys just being at CHS. E. BARD RUPP, B.A., Lycoming; psychology, geography; enjoys sports; feels students at CHS need better school spirit. JOHN C. WHITEHEAD, B.A., Stroudsburg; U.S. history; enjoys golf; head football coach, J.V. basketball coach; impressed by classroom behavior of pupils. WILLIAM WOODS, B.S., West Chester; world cultures, physical education; head wrestling coach; gymnastics club adviser; enjoys hunting.

Scissors in hand, Mr. Woods diligently chops away at a picture for his bulletin board.

Mr. Rupp explains the geography of Asia.

Surprised by the camera, Miss Binner temporarily forgets the forms in the mimeograph machine.

"Bookkeeping has two k's," corrects Mr. Bowen gleefully.

"This alphabet is out of order," explains Mr. Brown to his typing class.

To allow students to catch up, Miss Hedden pauses during a shorthand quiz.

STUDENTS STRIVE TO

Preparing the students at Carlisle Senior High School to be the executives and businessmen of tomorrow is the job of the Commercial Department under the leadership of Miss Emily Hedden.

Students learn business skills that will enable them to earn a living as bookkeepers, clerks, accountants, and secretaries.

Typing, both elective and required, is taught to many business, college preparatory, and general students. Shorthand, Bookkeeping I and II, and notehand are taught by repeated practice and visual aids.

Office practice is a senior course taught by the use of office machinery as well as classroom explanations. Students desiring to improve these skills and gain practical experience at the same time may help in the main office or the guidance offices during their free periods.

While using the calculating machine in office practice, Connie Guise gets experience that will be valuable after graduation.

"Oh, for the end of this day," dreams Mr. Kling during homeroom period.

Pointing out the difference between assets and liabilities, Mr. Ocker uses his bulletin board.

Mr. Walker searches diligently for a misplaced exam while his students wait anxiously.

BECOME BUSINESS LEADERS

Students in a Typing II class prepare to start the day's lesson.

JOYCE E. BINNER, B.S., Shippensburg; office practice; supervises cafeteria money; enjoys music; remembers first semester of teaching at CHS. GEORGE L. BOWEN, JR., B.S., Shippensburg; M. Ed., Penn State; bookkeeping; coaches CHS varsity baseball and J.V. football. ALBERT L. BROWN, B.S., Bloomsburg; typing; coordinates CHS display window; likes reading, golf; pleased by progress of students. EMILY HEDDEN, A.B., Beaver; M. Ed., Penn State; stenography, transcription, general business; Senior Class adviser; likes sewing, travel. WILBUR JOE KLING, B.S., Shippensburg; M. Ed., Penn State; teaches business math, typing; enjoys archery, coin collecting; likes being at CHS. DONALD C. OCKER, B.S., Shippensburg; typing, bookkeeping; likes hunting, sports; advises Commercial Club; impressed by lack of discipline problems. KENNETH C. WALKER, B.S., M. Ed., Temple; shorthand, notehand, typing, consumer economics, Junior Class adviser; likes CHS efficiency.

As they operate the duplicating machine, Susan Boswell and Trudy Stoll learn basic fundamentals.

In the mill and cabinet shop, Mr. Breneisen helps a student with a project.

Upon examining the engine, Mr. Kamowski discovers the spark plugs are missing.

Taking time out for a snack, Mrs. Kelso raids the icebox.

FUTURE CRAFTSMEN PRACTICE SKILLS

The Vocational Department, headed by Mr. E. I. Eastep, helps to prepare students to be the homemakers and craftsmen of tomorrow.

Boys can specialize in the fields of industrial arts, mechanical drawing, auto mechanics, machine shop, electricty, cabinetmaking, and building trades. Trade preparatory boys are also required to complete a three-year program in applied mathematics, science, and mechanical drawing, in addition to shop work and other high school subjects.

By means of a cross-sectional stool, Mr. Lesher demonstrates upholstering to a class.

Boys in the auto shop check out the electrical system of a late model Ford.

Disturbed by a faulty machine, Mr. Skovira searches for the trouble.

"Be careful of your fingers," advises Mrs. Smith while she opens a machine.

Unaware of the photographer, Mr. Spaseff adds a finishing touch to his drafting.

"The red light means it's safe," points out Mr. Stevens while using the supplies and distribution machine.

GIRLS STUDY HOME EC

Girls interested in becoming homemakers are taught the fundamentals of sewing, cooking, and housekeeping by classroom study, explanations, and actual practice in school. In addition, they may enroll in the industrial arts classes and learn hand skills and operations which might be of value to them if they seek employment in local industries.

As she studies the pattern, in clothing class, Shirl Varner tries to figure out what is wrong with her skirt.

CHARLES E. BRENEISEN, B.S., Penn State; studied at Millersville; cabinetmaking and building trades. CHESTER F. KAMOWSKI, Standard Certificate, Penn State; auto mechanics; advises Auto Club; enjoys woodworking. MARY M. KELSO, B.S., Penn State; teaches home economics; likes reading; enjoys finding girls interested in becoming homemakers. HAROLD L. LESHER, B.S., California State; attended Penn State; industrial arts; enjoys antiques. CHARLES R. SKOVIRA, B.S., Penn State; vocational machine shop; adult evening school; likes gardening; impressed by large student parking lot. ROMA C. SMITH, B.S., Iowa State; Studied at Mt. Carroll; home economics; likes sewing, reading; advises Home Economics Club. GEORGE ALEX SPASEFF, B.S., Miami University; related and elective drawing; assistant wrestling coach; enjoys boating, antique auctions. EDMUND F. STEVENS, B.S., Penn State; Vocational electric shop; likes fishing, boating.

Mr. Barkley arranges a still life for his art students.

Playing the executive, Mr. Barr checks over musical arrangements for the Galaxies.

Ignoring an amusing mistake in a voice class, Mrs. Boytim plays on.

SPECIAL INTERESTS DEVELOPED IN ART AND MUSIC DEPARTMENTS

Striving to perfect their voices, Judy Shultz and Karen Gallagher, members of the choir, practice different tones in voice class.

The Art and Music Departments strive to develop the creative ability of interested people.

Art students, working through different medias, design posters, enter contests, sculpture, and paint. Classroom lectures add background to the work done in class.

CHS choir and glee clubs endeavor to provide entertainment for our school and community. In preparation for this, individuals take voice lessons, learn to read music, and practice choral music.

Members of the band, an important part of the Music Department, receive individual instrumental music instruction in small classes; and in the band they practice group work and synchronized marching.

FRED A. BARKLEY, B.S., Indiana State; art; advises Art Club, Stage Craft Club; enjoys music and bowling; pleased at the courtesy of the students. CLYDE M. BARR, B.S., West Chester; directs band; teaches instrumental music; advises CHS Dance Band; hobbies include camping and collecting records. JOAN FREY BOYTIM, B.S., Indiana State, Staalliche Hochschule; choir, Glee Club; advises Girls' Ensemble, Boys' Octet; likes sewing.

With a smile Mrs. Cockley greets Harvey, a new member of the health department.

"The life you save may be mine," points out Mr. Peck to a future driver.

Mr. Saylor relaxes while his students take a rest.

HEALTH AND SAFETY CLASSES STRESS IMPORTANT RULES

Under the capable direction of Mr. Peck, students learn the basic mechanics of the car, good safety rules, and the proper operation of a car.

Occupational education is a relatively new course being offered at Carlisle High School to satisfy the needs of individual students seeking future employment.

Senior students study health three periods a week. In this course the structures of the body and its systems are covered through classroom lectures, visual aids, and the completion of a term paper by each student.

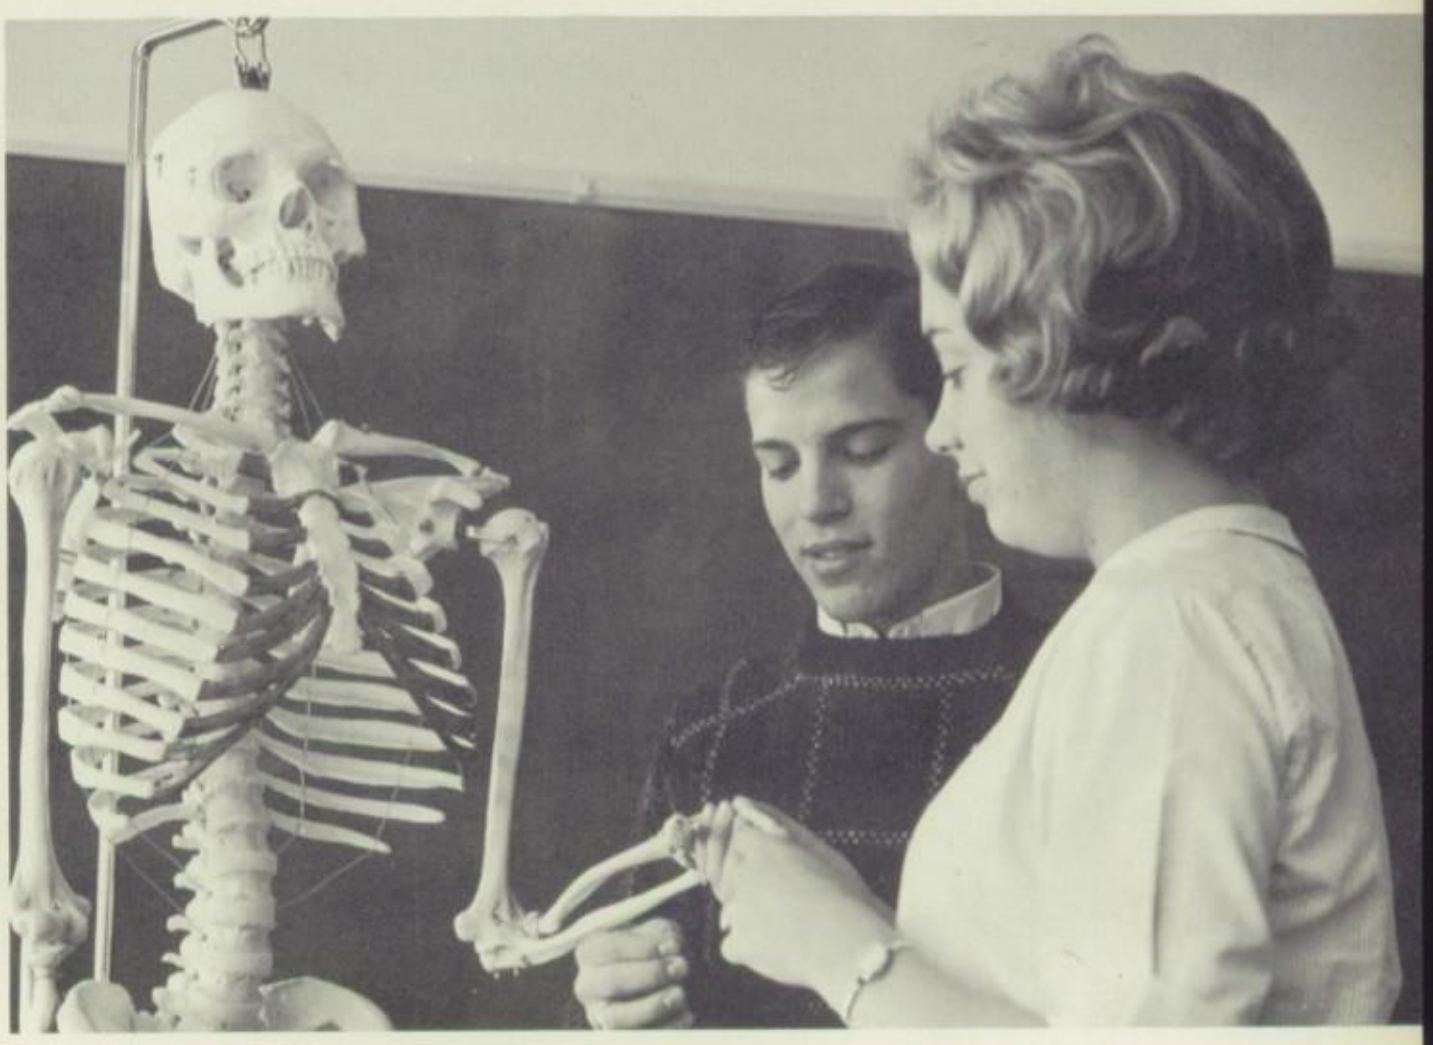
Closing Lee Steele's door, Mr. Peck prepares to take her driving.



Before health class Steve Donson and Mimi DeVenney examine Harvey's metacarpals.

"1 - 2 - 3 - 4," directs Miss Martlew for alternate toe-touching.

Mr. Nickey, an expert marksman, retrieves his arrow from the target.

GYM CLASSES PRACTICE FITNESS

"A sound mind in a sound body," is still the rule today, and the Health Department under the direction of Mrs. Marcelle Cockley strives to enforce this rule.

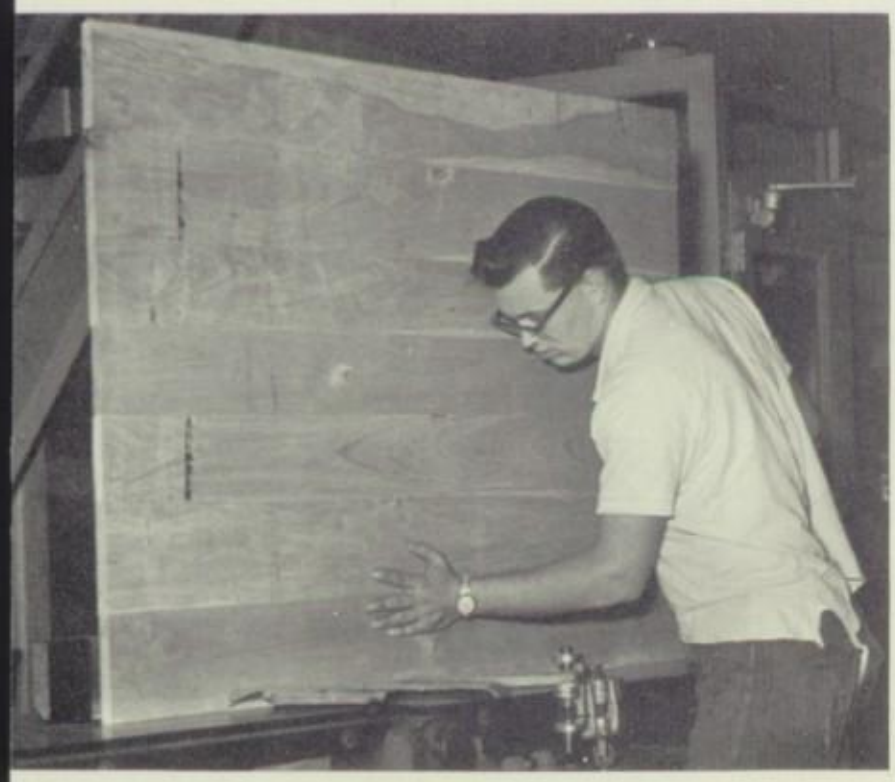
All students are required to take two periods of gym each week. Boys learn the skills of archery, football, basketball, apparatus, track, and golf under the supervision of their instructor. In the girls' gym classes hockey, basketball, volleyball, softball, and apparatus are also taught. All students take physical fitness tests at the end of the year, as well as written examinations and skill tests throughout the year.

DIANA MARTLEW, B.S., Stroudsburg; teaches physical education, health; girls' basketball coach; plays club hockey; liked passing all her health pupils. CAROL LEE SWALTEK, B.S., Lock Haven; physical education; coaches CHS hockey; enjoys sailing, reading; especially remembers winning first hockey game in 1961. WILLIAM NICKEY, B.S., West Chester; physical education; assistant track coach, advises Gym Club; enjoys hunting, fishing; liked coaching three pole vault champions.

The inch worm relay provides excitement and hilarity.

As Mr. Lickel looks on, Linda Lehman and Margaret Cole finish their lab write-ups in Biology I.

Practicing in one of the sound proof band rooms, Garry Saphore and Mike Gerstner warm up for band practice.



Planing the edge of the back of his cabinet, Robert Romito makes use of one of the many machines in the mill and cabinet shop.

"Where should I saw this board?" asks Lana Darhower of Mr. Lesher, while other members of the industrial arts class work on the circular saw.

CLASSES APPEAL TO EVERYONE

Claudia Steward, Jane Schlosnagle, Nancy Mosca and Meredith Gibson, members of the fine arts class, enjoy painting the beautiful scenery around our school.

Library pages A. Smitz, A. Kerns, J. Konhaus, S. Giselman, P. McCoy, S. Connolly, P. Sage, S. Williams, J. Napper, K. Carter, M. Newkam, A. Eberman, F. Arnold, N. Keller, M. O'Neill, R. Phillips, A. Steinberger, D. Mook are a vital part of the library.

LIBRARY AIDS

IN RESEARCH

Mrs. Lucille Harbison and Mrs. Harriet Keller, librarians, discuss the cataloguing of a new book.

Finding a quiet haven in the library, students complete research assignments.

For locating books on the shelves, students have found a useful tool in the card catalog.

EFFICIENT SOPHOMORE OFFICERS

One requisite for a good government is good leaders. These four students were elected by their classmates to serve as leaders of the sophomore class of 1964. As class officers they have various responsibilities in school and community life. Some of their activities include collecting class dues and serving on the YMCA Youth Council.

The second requisite for a good government is an active student body. Carlisle's tenth grade is composed of students who take an interest in their school. Sophomores contribute to CHS by participating in varsity sports, serving on the Student Senate, and setting high academic standards.

BRING TRAGEDY

Truly, Death is not proud; it can take the President of the United States as suddenly and tragically as a high school sophomore; it is partial neither to age nor status. L. Kay Dunfee, born December 11, 1948, was a student here at Carlisle Senior High School until her death from a heart ailment on January 1, 1964. A responsible student, she was liked by those who knew her. To these friends, s a d d e n e d by her untimely death, Life assumed a fuller meaning from seeing the utter chance of fate.

C H S LEGISLATURE SERVES ALL

Student government at CHS consists of two houses; the senate, composed of three students elected each year from each grade, and the council, composed of homeroom presidents. Pooling their efforts, these groups sponsored such activities as the Homecoming Weekend, several Dress-up Days, and a banquet for three-year honor students.

Under the direction of Student Council President Pat Hartzell and Mr. Warren Coolidge, adviser, members discussed problems of the student body, including lack of school spirit and increased senior privileges. Their recommendations and decisions were then published in "The Senator."

NOVEMBER 9, '63

Circling Pat Hartzell, the 1963 Homecoming Queen, is her court: Sue Barrett, Karen Gallagher, Sharon Ebener, Lee Waddell, Connie Chronister, and Beth Sheaffer.

Following her coronation, Queen Pat Hartzell and her escort, Jim Miller, lead a dance.

IS MEMORABLE DATE

Despite an untimely football defeat which dampened spirits, a large crowd attended the 1963 Homecoming Dance on November 9. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Pat Hartzell as Homecoming Queen. During the evening, couples danced to records and to the music of the Galaxies under Clyde Barr.

"It was a wonderful evening," Queen Pat Hartzell and her escort, Jim Miller, seem to say.

Music and laughter filled the cafeteria as couples waltzed at the 1963 CHS homecoming dance.

NEW AND VARIED SKILLS DISPLAYED

The senior high band, under the leadership of Clyde Barr for the past two years, participated in many pep rallies and local parades, and performed many colorful routines during halftime at the football games, as well as selling refreshments at home basketball games. On May 2, 1964, the band presented its annual spring band concert.

Members of the color guard at CHS this year include: Judy Shultz, Janice Hemenway, Dotty Stringfellow, and Judy Green.

BAND PARTICIPATES IN CONTEST

For the first time this year, the CHS band participated in the Pennsylvania Music Educators' Association and Downtown Harrisburg Association band marching contest. Finishing second in the competition won by Lower Dauphin, the band received a trophy and a superior rating, the highest rating given. The band front received an excellent rating and a trophy.

Another project newly introduced at CHS was Prom Peanut Week. Band members sold peanuts to raise money for new uniforms. The profits totaled $800.

FOR AREA CLUBS

Singing for school assemblies and civic organizations, the CHS Choir made numerous appearances this year. Annually the choir presents two concerts of sacred and secular numbers, at Christmas and in the spring. Selections from these concerts were offered after the concerts in school assemblies and to various area groups. At Christmas the choir gave a program for the Kiwanis Club, and in April they sang for Rotary Club, at the junior high school, and at Dickinson College. Also they performed at several devotional assemblies. Seven choir members represented CHS at District Chorus in Manheim on January 16,17,18: Jamie Clark, Bill Graves, Bonnie Pitzer, Cynthia Roebuck, Judy Shultz, Don Warner, and Bob Weimer.

BUSY STAFF WORKS HARD

This year orders were placed for 1100 ORACLES, at a cost of over $5,000, in addition to the cost of the supplement. Taking orders for ORACLES, doing layouts, writing copy, and scheduling and selling pictures were just a few of the many jobs of the ORACLE staff, whose members, advised by Miss Isabelle Hoover, were constantly meeting deadlines in order to produce a comprehensive book of the year.

Pat Beecher, editor; Nancy Brehm, photography editor; Patty Pope; Miss Isabelle Hoover, adviser; Judy Martin, typist; and Mary Shughart make a final check on the finished pages.

As they consider carefully the senior copy, Rita Phillips, Dotty Stringfellow, senior editor, Ann Boldosser, typist, and Bonnie Otstot plan the senior section.

Making final plans for faculty and sports pages, Ann Hertzler, faculty editor, Dave Brubaker, literary editor, consult with Jack Giselman, staff photographer, and Allen Fisher, sports editor.

Judy Green, business manager, and Jane Farner, assistant manager, make sure the accounts balance as they check orders.

Mike King, assistant staff photographer, sets out for an assignment.

"Won't that look cute on my page?" asks Sukey Flower of Sara Carothers, Mike Chronister, and Chris Irwin, as Kathy Miller looks up a name in the file.

EXTRA! EXTRA! READ ALL ABOUT IT

Clipping out portions of the PERISCOPE to save for future reference is an easy task for Cindy Barrett, reporter; Pat Hartzell, SENTINEL reporter; Bonnie Hoch, reporter; and Artra Kerns, business manager.

Advised by Miss Dilys Schuettler, the PERISCOPE Staff gathered news of interest to the student body and wrote articles and headlines. After proofreading galley sheets and pages, they presented ten lively issues of the PERISCOPE, and prepared frequent columns for the SENTINEL. In addition the staff prepared the material for the handbook which was given to all students on the first day of school.

Galley proofs receive final inspection from Helen McAdoo, feature editor; Gary Stubbs, assistant editor; Nancy Keller, editor; and Stu Einstein, sports editor.

Miss Dilys Schuettler (adviser) gives Sherlene Wisotzkey and Pat Ludt, typists, and Idana Padjen and Bonnie Magee, reporters, pointers on how to improve their work.

Wearing their new uniforms, seven snappy majorettes, Sharon Frownfelter, Robin Yoder, Barbara Herr, Sharon Ebener, Dyan Long, Ann Holmes, and Dosha Mook, practice their Homecoming routine.

MAJORETTES ARE RATED EXCELLENT

Fans at football games received a treat at halftime as the majorettes performed a new routine to "Racket Squad," played by the Carlisle Band. The seven girls, under the supervision of Beth Sheaffer, head majorette, spent many hours during summer vacation and after school practicing various formations. Their work paid off when they were rated excellent in a marching band competition in Harrisburg, in which 21 bands participated.

"We've got a good team. You're right, you're right!" And Carlisle's team has been spurred on to victory by nine peppy cheerleaders who rallied the teams in sports events this year. The girls, leaders in sportsmanship and school spirit, aroused student enthusiasm with posters and pep rallies.

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y spells VICTORY for Carlisle High!"

As Winifred (Jamie Clark), Ernest (Stu Einstein), and Lora (Jane Bolan) listen, Tony (Rick Kopps) expresses his opinions concerning life and its values.

"What's the matter, ma'am?" Selma (Allyson Bell) asks her employers, Caroline and her husband Al, (Donna Stanton and John Adams).

PRESENTING . . .

Departing from usual custom, the Senior Class on November 16 presented a series of three one-act plays as the class play. The first, entitled IMPROMPTU, examined the question of how much truth and how much illusion a person needs in order to lead a balanced life. The second, GOODNIGHT CAROLINE, was a farce in one act concerning the robbery attempt of a soft-hearted burglar. PARTED ON HER WEDDING MORN, an old-fashioned meller-drammer, was the third play. Student directors for the three plays were Bonnie Pitzer, Nancy Keller, Keith Parker, Pat Stringfellow, Susanne Flower, and Barbara Smith.

Warren Beckman, director, discusses special stage settings with Fred Barkley, art department head.

"Our hero" Excelsior Colfax (Gary Stubbs) levels his revolver at the villain, Desmond Dalton (Rodney Wendt) and his accomplice, Opal Buckingham (JoAnn Gerstner), as Mother Mahoney (Marlene O'Neill), Faith Truehart (Cathy Winterer), and Bowery Liz (Judy Shultz) look on encouragingly.

Madge Fuller (Sylvia Crenshaw) and Clayton Nevins (Jim Sabol) share a joke as Newton Fuller (Will McCutchen) and Rena Leslie (Nancy Spotts) look on.

JUNIORS DISPLAY ACTING TALENTS

Under the direction of Warren Beckman, the Junior Class on February 21 presented as the class play GEORGE WASHINGTON SLEPT HERE by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman. A comedy in three acts, the play involved the purchase of a country home by a city family and the hilarious incidents which followed this purchase. Student directors for the play were Genie Stout and Sue Spangler.

Stage Crew Readies Set

J. Miller, D. Peters, L. Darhower, D. Moyer, K. Seiler, and G. Carver work busily to complete scenery before opening night.

"Everything will be all right," says Rena Leslie (Nancy Spotts) to her actor-husband (Jim Sabol).

CLUBS DEVELOP NEW SKILLS

As they adventure into the many fields of art, members of the Art and Poster Club, which met twice a month under the direction of Mr. Fred Barkley, developed imagination and creativity through individual projects. Soap carving, water paints, pastels, charcoal sketches, modern art, and paper mosaics were especially popular, and some members tried their hand at wood carving.

Meeting each Monday with their adviser, Mr. Chester Kamowski, boys in the Auto Club learned about the parts and function of an engine and were trained in the care and maintenance of automobiles. Mr. Kamowski feels that this knowledge will help club members in preventing and dealing with trouble on the road.

Biologists Probe Microscopic World

Amateur biologists enjoyed an interesting year under the direction of Mr. Edward Fox. During the year members probed into the world of microscopic animals and plants through experiments and discussions. Guest speakers and field trips rounded out the program of the Biology Club for the year. This club was open to any interested student.

Budget Club Handles Installment Buying

Misplaced your budget ticket? Check with the Budget Club. Not only did they collect budget envelopes, count and deposit the money, but at the same time they learned lessons in bookkeeping and helped the student body gain the advantages of installment buying. The club met sixth period Friday under the direction of Mr. Edwin Prettyman.

POISED GIRLS POSE BEFORE CAMERAS

The click of the shutter and the warning "watch the birdie" are familiar sounds to Camera Club members. Under the watchful eye of Mr. Leon Zeiders, members photographed and developed their own pictures. Members also criticized their pictures to improve the quality of their work.

"Poised" and "lovely" are adjectives that might be used to describe the members of the Charm Club. Guided by Mrs. Ruth Walz, the girls discovered the secrets of good grooming. Guest speakers spoke to the club on the importance of hair care, careful use of cosmetics, and good posture.

Thespians Present Plays For Children and Assembly

Sponsored by Mrs. Helen Ward, Thespians Troop 214 provided a Christmas play for the student body, the annual Children's Play in March, and entered a play competition in Harrisburg. Initiation into the club required ten points earned by participation in dramatic club activities.

Commercial Club Helps Survey Class of 1963

Activities of the Commercial Club, directed by Mr. Donald Ocker, included talks by former CHS students now engaged in secretarial work and consultations with experts on related subjects. The members also aided the guidance office by conducting a follow-up survey of last year's graduates.

Commercial Club members group around seated members J. Bly and B. Lehman: D. Ocker (adviser), J. Farner, B. Mentzer, J. Hockenberry, J. Kissinger, Y. Stringfellow, N. Swartz, L. Kling, P. Reimer, M. Shughart, M. Hefflefinger, F. Myers, P. Stringfellow, J. Martin, and E. Kisinger.

CLUBS DEVELOP SPECIAL SKILLS

French Club Increases Skill in French Language

Striving to increase their knowledge of French culture and to improve their understanding of spoken French, members of the French Club, directed by Miss Anna Mary Thomas, spent meetings playing French games, reading French magazines, and listening to French records. In addition, the club sponsored dances after basketball games and a French banquet and dance in the spring.

Dramatic Club Members Learn Theater Techniques

To develop and improve acting skills, members of the Dramatic Club met weekly with their adviser, Mr. Warren Beckman. Activities included reading from plays to improve expression and diction, and helping on class play committees to earn points for initiation into the Thespians. Open to students interested in drama, the club supplies basic information for acting.

The mysteries of machines were explained in detail to interested members of the Future Mechanics Club. By hearing speakers and visiting local industries the members gained insight for their future vocation. Filmstrips, movies, and other visual aids were an important part of this club, which was directed by Mr. Charles Skovira.

Club Gains Insight into Nursing Profession

CHS's future nurses, under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Millen, carried out a successful program this year. Through organized discussions, guest speakers, informative panels, and filmstrips, the girls gained insight into and valuable knowledge about the profession of nursing.

FTA CLUB GAINS TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Under the direction of its advisers, Mr. Richard Hammann, Miss Isabelle Hoover, and Mr. Leon Kauffman, the Future Teachers Club carried out a busy program. During American Education week the members in appreciation presented each teacher and administration official of the building with a package of cookies. Superintendent David Swartz and Guidance Counselor Henry Witman spoke to the club on qualifications of teachers and on selecting an appropriate college. A panel of student teachers addressed the club. Guidance counselor Leo Johns spoke on psychology and discipline.

Seven members of the club attended a conference at Shippensburg, and the whole club visited Shippensburg College where they toured the campus and were addressed by the Dean of Student Personnel, Dr. John C. Hubley.

During the year members also observed classes and practiced student teaching. Some members assisted teachers during various functions held at the elementary schools. Various films on teaching were also seen.

MEMBERS PRACTICE NEW SKILLS

Meeting weekly, the Gymnastics Club under the direction of Mr. William Nickey developed physical fitness. Learning new techniques and perfecting old ones, members increased gymnastic skill through free exercise and practice on the equipment including the trampoline, vaulting box, rings, parallel bars, side horse, balance beam, and uneven parallel bars.

Club members perfected routines to enter the Pennsylvania State Gymnastic Championships at Penn State on March 7. They also presented the annual gym show in the spring.

STUDENTS IMPROVE ABILITIES

Today's Students Become Tomorrow's Homemakers

This year future homemakers wanting to gain more of the fundamentals joined the Home Economics Club under the supervision of Mrs. Roma Smith. The students selected patterns and the type of material best suited for their projects in sewing. They were also instructed in cooking and other related fields of homemaking.

Club Members Help Classes See Films

Under new Coach John Whitehead the 1963 Carlisle Varsity posted a record of 8-1-1. The team was made up of 9 lettermen and a corps of Junior Varsity players and sophomores.

The Herd conquered its first four opponents, and then met the Central Dauphin powerhouse whom it tied 7-7. Carlisle then breezed by Cumberland Valley, before winning a close contest with Central Dauphin East. On Homecoming weekend the Herd met its chief rival, the Chambersburg Trojans, and lost 26-18. Mechanicsburg then fell before Carlisle in the season's finale.

In addition to a powerful offense, the defense stood out by holding the opponents to 59 points and scoring five shut-outs. The scoring was led by Albie Owens with 109 points, and Bert Nye with 56 points.

J.V.'s Have Good Season

Gathering around Coach Bowen, the J.V.'s listen for his final instructions.

At the end of the 1963 season, the Junior Varsity, under the coaching of James Bowers and George Bowen, finished with a record of 4-2-2.

The season began in a poor fashion as the Baby Herd could win only one game in their first five. However, as the season came near its close, the squad rallied for three wins in its final three games. The team had an over-all balanced ground-gaining attack. It could remain on the ground with backs Gary Thompson and Jim Nelson; or it could go to the air with the capable arm of Dick Ehly.

The rushing was led by Jim Nelson. The scoring was led by Gary Thompson and Jim Nelson, with 7 and 5 touchdowns respectively.

1964 IS A YEAR OF REBUILDING

With the coming of the '63-'64 season, Coach Dave Heckler had the job of rebuilding with two seniors and one letterman.

The lack of experience and size hurt the squad, but the Herd responded to the challenge. Scoring was led by Bud Eavenson, Bob Emerson, Mike Kazor, and Albie Owens, the lone letterman. The varsity employed man-to-man and zone defenses and man-to-man and zone presses.

The experience gained will provide better seasons in the next few years.

Under the new leadership of Coach John Whitehead, the Carlisle J.V.'s recorded a record of 10 wins and 12 losses. The J.V. team was primarily composed of sophomores, some of whom were transferred to the varsity squad.

Playing a rugged schedule, the team played consistently and scored evenly. The scoring was led by Bill Kistler, Jim Crum, and Gary Thompson. The rebounding was led by Dave Boyles and Charlie Washington.

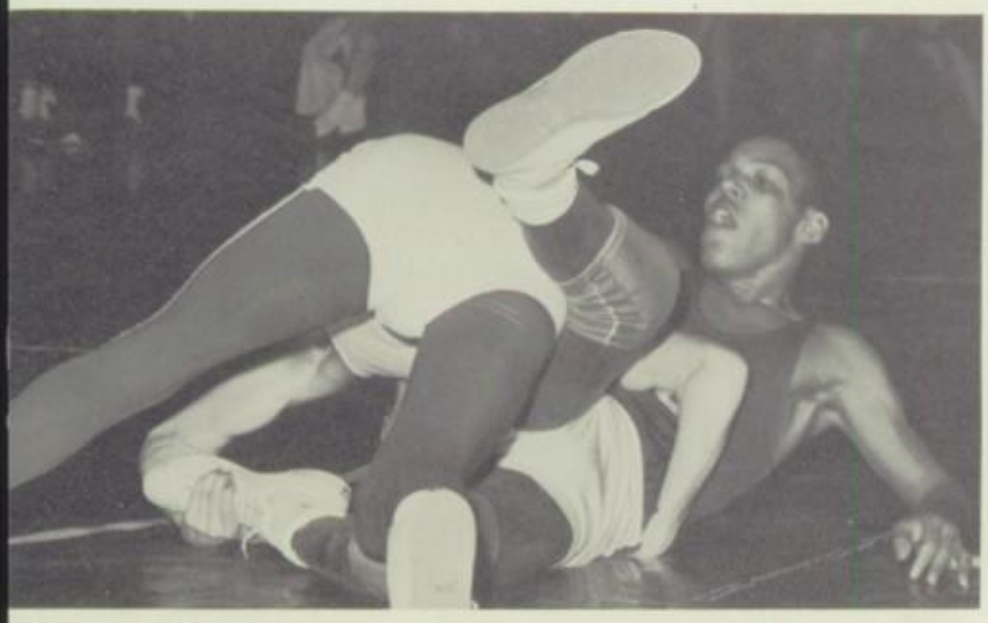
WRESTLING DRAWS FANS IN '64



Mike Baltimore escapes a tight position.

Carlisle High had seven boys return to the varsity wrestling squad this year. These seven, along with five new boys, have put Carlisle in second place in the Harrisburg Area League.

Bob Kepner, in the 95 pound class, held a record of 13 wins and 1 loss.

Another outstanding boy in the Carlisle lineup was George Thompson, who this year changed from a boxer to a wrestler.

The J.V. squad of twenty-three boys will make an excellent squad for varsity next year. This year they had 9 wins and 4 losses.

Making a quick reversal is easy for Bob Kepner, against his John Harris opponent.

Ed Rykoskey gets a pinning combination in the second period over Cedar Cliff.

Tom Nornhold, J.V. first-baseman, stretches to take the throw to nip the Camp Hill runner.

With a mighty swing Bill Kistler lofts a high fly to center field.

HARD WORK PAYS DIVIDENDS IN '63

At the end of the 1963 baseball season, the Baby Herd, under the coaching of David Heckler, held the best record ever gained by a J.V. team. Carlisle won its first three games but lost a squeaker to Cedar Cliff, 4-2. Carlisle then won its next two games. The Herd again met Cedar Cliff and lost in the final inning on a homerun. In hitting, Bill Gordon and Allen Fisher led the team with respective averages of .450 and .440. Jack Norton led the pitching staff.

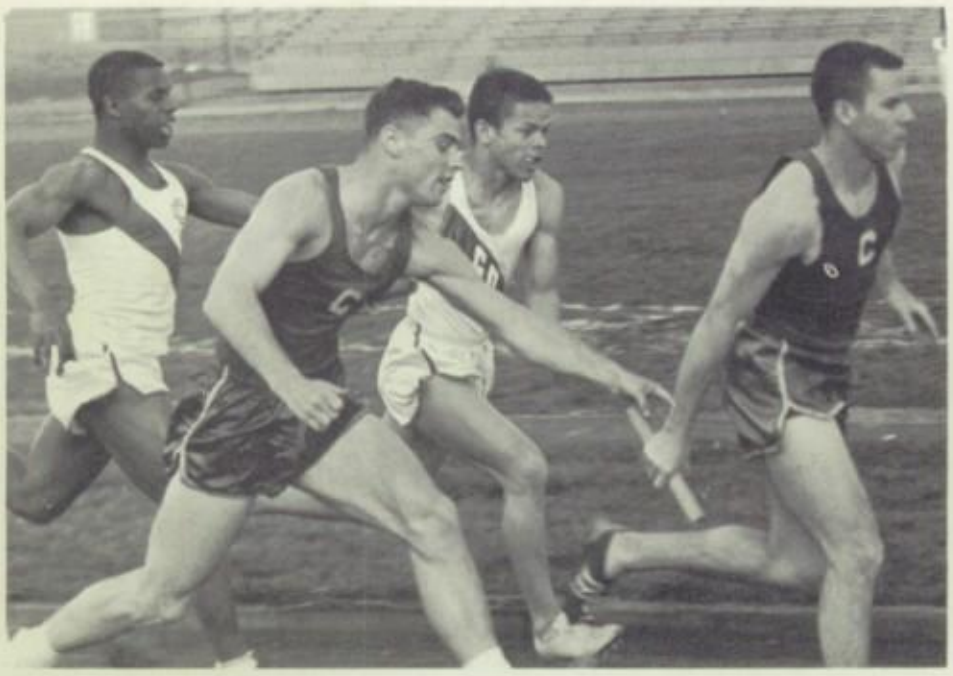
15 Members Return In '64

As the 1963 baseball season began, coach George Bowen had only two lettermen returning to his squad, Rick Kime and Jim Hertzler. However, as the season progressed, the newer team members filled in to give better balance to the squad. After a poor start the team rallied to bring a record of 6 wins and 7 losses. The squad's hitting was led by Pat Hawes and Denny Shank, the latter hitting four homeruns during the course of the season. The pitching was led by John Shearer.



A quick hand-off by Bob Nye to Tom Kline enables Carlisle to take a slight lead against Central Dauphin.

Miler John Cantalupi breathes deeply as he and his Steel-High opponent fight for the lead.

TRACK SQUAD OF '63 SHOWS FOES OVERALL BALANCE AND STRENGTH

After extending their winning streak to 22 meets by winning the first three meets of the 1963 season, the Carlisle track team, coached by Stan Morgan and William Nickey, ran into the '63 district champs, Steelton-Highspire, and lost by a heart-breaking score of 64-63. Carlisle then finished in a tie for third place at the Shippensburg Invitational Meet, defeated Central Dauphin, C.D. East, placed sixth in the Sonny Shephard Relays, and beat Big Spring, before losing to John Harris in the season's final meet.

At the conclusion of the season the team sent representatives to the district meet. Lenny McLaughlin won the pole-vault; Albie Owens won the discus; and Bert Nye placed third in the shot-put. Those placing first and second in their events went to the State Track Meet. In this Lenny McLaughlin tied for second in his specialty.

VARSITY EARNS FOURTH PLACE

Norma Baird and Sue Connolly start a scoring surge against Northern High.

Under coaches Carol Swaltek and Carol Sweigard, student teacher, the Carlisle hockey squad placed fourth in the Lower Susquehanna Conference by compiling a record of 2-3-4.

Inexperience hurt the team in that only three letter-winners returned from 1962 squad. However, several former junior varsity players filled team spots, and the squad played consistently. The scoring was done by Lana Darhower with 6 goals, Brenda Martin with 3 goals, and Lucie Olson with 1 goal. Goalies Mary Hunt and Linda McDermond had 28 saves.

On October 26 a total of 122 players competed in high school tournaments. Four girls were chosen as star players, Lana Darhower being one selected.

Lucie Olson shows the value of being fit as she outjumps much taller girls.

Allyson Bell screens for Lana Darhower in a play which resulted in a basket for Carlisle.

In the first season of competition, the girls' varsity basketball squad showed marked improvement in each game. Under Coach Diana Martlew the girls first learned skills and then began to work on plays. After the team's heartbreaking loss by one point to Boiling Springs, spirits rose with the 36 to 19 victory over Susquenita. The team has great plan for future years and hopes to add another trophy to Carlisle's collections.

GIRLS COMPETE IN FIRST SEASON

FRONT ROW: J. Boyer, S. Carothers, L. Sell, L. Olson, K. Obenshain, A. Bell, L. Darhower. BACK ROW: S. Holder, (manager), B. Martin (manager), M. Rhoads, L. Kling, P. Sage, J. Lins, D. Martlew (Coach), M. Hunt, R. Lutz, C. Roebuck, K. Sloan, J. Hathaway, A. Kerns (manager).

GIRLS LEARN VALUE OF TEAM WORK

"Every point counts," says Coach Martlew to Ondrea Stelzer, remembering the Boiling Springs game.

All eyes are on Kaye Sloan as she tries to gain possession of the ball.

J. V. Squad

D. Stambaugh, L. Stover, J. Bolan, M. Newkam, B. Palmer, B. Kutz, S. Owens, C. Brown, D. Owens, O. Stelzer.

The junior varsity basketball squad showed spirit in their first year. By using the zone defense, the girls prevented many goals and often gained possession of the ball. Under Coach Diana Martlew, the team gained experience and also benefited from competition with other schools. Coach Martlew has many plans for the team, and the girls are looking forward to next year, which they hope will bring many more victories. The team's top bucket-makers were Jane Bolan (45pts.), Kathy Obenshain (38 pts.), Brenda Palmer (10pts.), and Cindy Brown (10pts.).

THE RIDGERUNNERS-Intramural football champs--KNEELING: D. Warner, J. Crum, G. Caufman, D. Brubaker. STANDING: D. Goodyear, R. Fogle, A. Fisher, T. Nornhold, E. Hester.

INTRAMURALS INTEREST MANY

Sports enthusiasts wanting to perfect their skills and form were invited to participate in the intramural sports program played after school under the direction of Leon Kauffman.

Included in the sports program for boys were ping-pong, soccer, touch football, volleyball, baseball, basketball, tennis, and track; while the girls' program included basketball and softball.

Winning team members who took part in at least two thirds of their scheduled games were awarded intramural letters.

THE BOOTERS--Intramural soccer champs--FRONT ROW: D. Ker, J. Adams. BACK ROW: D. Martin, S. Hockley, C. Sardeson, J. Fisher.

Presenting Kathy Miller with her award for J. V. Hockey, Carol Swaltek congratulates her on a job well done.

George Bowen congratulates Deemer Durham for his work in J. V. Football.

BANQUET HELD FOR ATHLETES

Athletes who participated in the fall sports program at C.H.S. received recognition at the fall sports banquet held on December 9, 1963. Those students taking part in football and hockey received letters, stars, and certificates.

James Garrett, head coach and athletic director of Susquehanna University spoke to the athletes on how to participate in a sport.

Mark Burkhart, principal at C.H.S., introduced this year's guest speaker James Garrett, who spoke to the athletes on the A, B, C's of sports.

Varsity and J. V. Football players examine their hard earned letters and stars.

THE ETERNAL CYCLE

The ring is a fabled symbol of eternity, for its beginning and termination are fused as one cycle. Thus might it represent the achievements and gains of the past year, a year whose end is also the start of something even finer, a cycle by which the past is the keystone of the future and the future the complement of the past. But a ring is only a symbol, a metal emblem of the new wisdom and memories embraced by its form--all to be cherished with the passing of time.

To record achievements and memories we submit this '64 yearbook, with appreciation to the Delmar Yearbook Company, publishers; to Sterling Studios; the SENTINEL; and to all members of the faculty and student body that have helped in the creation of this '64 yearbook.

Dan,
Its a neat guy
which I have had the pleasure of knowing. This winter. Just because you happen to be smart does not detract from you
Bob

Don,
Parlez-vous Francais.
No. Remember the U.N.
Joke. Where ever you go
keep away from H.H. (GBY)
Chester

Don,
I still say I paid you that dime. If I ever see you again in the near future, I hope you will have realized it by then. God luck in the future, & hope you reach 20 offers with the discus.

Jerry

To Dad
I didn't have you in any of my classes this year. We could have failed together—
Frank J.

Lahaye,
To the World's holder of The Track Practice Skipping Record.
"Fat Mighty Wrestler"
Edward Lahaye

"Don,

It's been a blast in physics this year (If you know what I mean) Don't forget "glow" & his mate.

A.F.A.
Mike

(P.S. Say hello to "Arnie" for me the next time you see him.)

"Merry Lover" (Ha-Ha)
Ed

Don!
Good luck
to a future Bowler
Olympee
to a great and friend.
